CASS COUNTY BONDS. The Compromise in the Missouri Se curities Not Binding.

ted Press Leased-wire Service. KANSAS CITY (Mo.,) April 25 .- The old Cass county bonds trouble has been brought up in the Federal court again. Thomas W. White and Helen Paramore, Thomas W. white and releis randore, holders of the bonds, are suing the county for the full value of the bonds. Several years ago the county compromised with holders of the bonds at 70 cents on the dollar and all the holders agreed to the compromise and were paid off, except the two who are now bringing suit.

Judge Phillips holds that the plaintiff Judge Phillips holds that the plaintiffs were not compelled to enter the compromise and were entitled to judgment against the county for the full amount of their bonds. He says, however, that the compromise was a fair one and that if the judges refuse to issue the tax to pay off the bonds of White and Paramore, as they surely will, he will not hold them in contempt.

SCENES OF CARNAGE. Great Loss of Life in the Peruvian Revolution.

Associated Fress Leased-wire Serv NEW YORK, April 25.—The World has received private advices giving a complete account of the closing days of the Peru-vian revolution. The World claims that vian revolution. The World claims that the overthrow of the Caceres government and the establishment of the insurgents led by Gen. Pierola was accompanied by scenes of horror and carnage which defy description.

In a summary the World says that the loss of life during the three days' fight was enormous when one comes to think of the number of troops engaged. The proportion of fatalities, an army officer said last night, was remarkably large, much greater than among the Chinese soldiers in the war with the Japanese. The following is the official report of the killed: Carcerist officers and soldiers, 430; private individuals, 269; women, 66; not classified, 91; total, 1683.

Durrant's Counsel Reserving Their Strength.

They Make Things Unpleasant for Dr. Gibson on the Witness Stand.

Fresh Witness Who Saw Sus picious Movements at the Church—Dr. Vogel's Statements Differ.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25 .-Dispatch.) The police are quietly investi-gating certain rumors connecting Dr. Gib-son with the murders in Emanuel Bap-tist Church, During the past few days some sensational stories have reached the ears of the police which implicate the

While Chief Crowley still believes Gibson innocent of any connection with the horrible crimes, he considers the rumors of sufficient importance to warrant an inves-He detailed several of his best men today to inquire into the rumors, with instructions to sift them to the bottom.

It is known that the defense will attemp to show that Gibson murdered the unfor unate girls. Durrant, while declaring his innocence, has frequently said that the pastor know more of the terrible crimes than he cared to tell, and rarely missed an opportunity to direct suspicion toward his spiritual adviser. The latter stoudy maintains his innocence of any connection with the murders, and is apparently and lous for a thorough investigation.

YESTERDAY'S TESTIMONY. SAN FRANCISCO, April 25 .- The pre liminary examination of Theodore Dur-rant for the murder of Minnie Williams is about over. Dist .- Atty. Barnes announced testimony tomorrow morning, and the de-fense will not, it is said, make much of a fight in the Police Court, but will reserve their strength until they go before the jury that will-finally determine whether or not those is never a service whether or today that he would close the prosecution's there is proof enough to hang Du Today's examination was principally Today's examination was principally taken up with a continuation of the cross-examination of Rev. John George Gibson, which was concluded shortly before noon. The preacher returned to the stand apparently irritated by the treatment he had received the day before. The lawyers pretense of deferential crurtesy was so thin that at times it was imperceptible. They locked horns at the outset. Gen. Dickinson questioned the paster sharply about his study and his possessions. He politely, but no less certainly, accused the the minister of teiling a falsehood about a statement made last Thursday in his study.

a statement made last Thursday in his study.

Then the attorney asked for some of Dr. Gibson's hand-writing. By this time the witness was aggravated enough to be disobliging, and refused to give the writing. A few minutes later the same request came up and Dr. Gibson, after complaining that there was no pen to suit him among the dozen boxes handed out by the clerk, wrote everything they asked, and he did it apparently without the slightest recollection that it was the same request which he had denied a few minutes before.

request which he had denied a few minntes before.

The writing they asked him for consisted of the names that were on the raper in which the rings of Blanche Lamont were wrapped when they were returned to her aunt. They produced samples of the minister's handwriting, a blackboard from the church and a memorandum from him, and the obvious intention was to show that the paster's hand had written the names on the bit of newspaper.

A fresh witness was uncovered in Albert A fresh witness was uncovered in Albert McElroy, a boy who saw a man resembling Durrant, and ressed as he was the night of the last murder, meet a woman (fresumably Minnie Williams) near Emardual Church about 8:30 o'clock in the evening. As McElroy passed them, the man shielded the woman from his gaze with als sheelder. He saw the pair stand near the church door. A few minutes later ne raw a light in the church.

Bert Minner, who met McElroy at the corner of Twenty-third and Mission streets, corroborated the story of the lights in the church.

Dr. Thomas A. Vogel also testified.

streets, corroborated the story of the lights in the church.

Dr. Thomas A. Vogel also 'estified. It was at his house that the Christian Prevaevor Society of Emanuel Church met the night of Minnie Williams's murder. The important part of his testimony istered to Durrant's condition, which was disheveled, soiled and perspiring, when he arrived there an hour and a heif later than was expected. Dr. Vogel's staument was varied considerably since he first made it.

If Durrant goes on the witness-stand with the alibi he outlined when he was atvested, he will be confronted with the statement he made to his friend Voge; about the horses and the Signal Corps, and the more doubtful Dr. Vogel is on this subject the better it will be for his friend Durrant.

The young ladies who found Miss Alliams's body in the church on Saturday, morning told their stories and the Jupput Coroner and the undertaker explained to the court the condition of the church and of the dead girl when they arrived there.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Rev. John George Gibson, pastor of Emanuel Baptist Church, was again on the witness-stand today, in the preliminarry examination of Theodore Durrant charged with the murder of Minnie Williams. The defense believes that it has a care against the clergyman, and will try to show that he, and not Durrant, killed both Miss Williams and Miss Lamont.

On the day preceding the finding—of Blanche Lamont's body, her aunt, Mrs. Noble, received a paper containing the rings worm by the missing girl. On the paper were written the names of George R. King and Prof. Schernstein, the apparent object being to connect these men with the girl's disappearance. Experts declared

King and Prof. Schernstein, the apparent object being to connect these men with the girl's disappearance. Experts declared the writing to be the disguised penmanship of Durrant. In court today, counselfor the defense requested Rev. Gibson to write the names of King and Schernstein. The minister compiled, and saked twice how to spell Schernstein's name. Gibson was calm and collected on the stand and was a good witness. Nothing tangible against him was developed by cross-examination, and his testimony was concluded. Albert O. McEiroy, aged 18, testified that on Friday evening, April 12, he saw a man resembling Durrant waiting on the corner of Bartlett and Twenty-second streets. A young woman came along, and the man approached her and tried to shield her from the witness's observation with his shoulders. The pair went toward the church and stood in front of the gate. Then the witness crossed the lot in the rear of the church and noticed a light in the church. It moved from window to window on the ground floor. Bert Minner, who was with McEiroy at the time, corroborated the latter's testithe time, corroborated the latter's testimony.

Dr. Thomas A. Vogel, at whose house the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was held on the night Miss Williams is supposed to have been murdered, testified that Durrant arrived at 9:30 o'clock, disheveled and perspiring, and asked permission to wash hie bands, etating that he had been out with the Signal Corpa and had soiled his hands.

The examination was continued until tomorrow, at the request of the District Attorney. Durrant has secured a desk and an easy chair in his cell, and spends his time in studying his notes for his medical examinations.

DURRANT'S RELATIVE.

A Crank Killed After Attempting to Assault a Woman.

SAN DIEGO, April 25.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Hugh A. Frazer, an elderly woman, who lives with her husband on the Loop ranch, one mile this side of Del Mar, went to that town in a state of ex-citement and told a story of a terrible struggle for life with a man named James Smith, a tramp, who, a month ago, was smith, a tramp, who, a month ago, was given work by Frazer.

Smith made an assault on her and she fought desperately in her efforts to repulse him. He was determined, however, and, in spite of her entreaties and struggles, the man seemed about to accomplish his the man seemed about to accomplish his purpose, when, as a last resort, and with the expectation that it would cause her assailant to desist, she promised to sub-mit to him at another time. This seemed to satisfy Smith, and he left and went about his work. She left the house and about his work. She left the house and hastened with all possible speed toward Del Mar. Her story had scarcely been told before Constable John Bludworth and

Mar. Her story had scarcely been told before Constable John Bludworth and Louis Lamar were on their way, so the ranch for the purpose of taking Smith into custody. Upon arriving at the place they found that Smith had apparently left, taking a shotgun with him. After a search of the house, Constable Bludworth went to the barn and looked through it. He came upon Smith sitting on a box in a stall, a big dirk in his hand and a shotgun and a lot of loaded shells beside him.

"When I saw Smith in the stall," said Bludworth, "I called him by name and said I had a warrant for him. His reply was an oath, as he jumped toward me. I struck him with my six-shooter. He kept coming toward me with the knife raised, and I fired, though it did not appear to hit him. He still seemed détermined to attack me, when I fired again and he fell dead. He had not fired at me, but evidently meant to cut me on the neek, striking at me twice. Had I not fired the last shot when I did he would have cut me open."

Smith greatly resembled Durrant, the alleged murderer of the two young women in San Francisco, to whom it is reported he is slightly related. During the last few days he read everything he nen in San Francisco, to whom it is sported he is slightly related. During he last few days he read everything he ould lay his hands on concerning his relcount ay one nands on concerning his relative in San Francisco and seemed greatly, wrought up over the tragedy. He had already become a crank on the subject. (constable Bludworth has not been arrested, but will come down from Del Mar voluntarily and place himself in the custody of the Sheriff.

The Indiana Politician Disappear From Home and is Next Heard From in Africa—Alleged Shortcomings.

ssociated Press Leased-wire Service. NEW YORK, April 25.—A young man walked into the Maritime Exchange last night and asked for a list of steamers night and asked for a list of steamers sailing from Cape Town, South Africa, to London. He ran over the names with feverish eigeness. Then he gave a shout of joy, staggered against a railing and cried: "Thank God, he has arrived safely." The young man gave his name as W. H. Soudon of Fort Wayne, Ind. He said his father-had disappeared four months ago and had just landed in London from Cape Town. He told this story: Daniel H. Soudon, who is 46 years old, was one of the best-known citizens of Fort Wayne, and for the four years ending last fall was County Clerk of Aller ing last tall was County Clerk of Allen county, the strongest Democratic county in the State. The Republicans, after a hasty examination of Clerk Soudon's books, declared that he had overcharged $20,000 in fees, and had put the money in his pocket. The statement was used as campaign thunder, though it turned out to be untrue.

paign thunder, though it turned out to be untrue. The charge severely wounded Soudon's pride. He had been elected by 8000 majority, the largest ever given in the county. He was a candidate for re-election. The Democrats won, but the majority was cut to below one thousand. Soudon imagined himself personally responsible for the slump. In December he came to New York. He had been run over by a rall-way train, and had two artificial legs below the knee. The young man followed, and, at Elikton, Md., he found an almost perfect counterpart of his father, the same moustache, hair, size, and, most remarkable, the mar had artificial legs.
"The other day," said the son, "a letter same to us in father's handwriting. It was from Cape Town and said that he had found himself there, but did not know how Soudon had about $1000 when he left home. He wrote that no money need be sent to him. The son does not know how to reach him. "The only thing I can do is to wait," he said, as he nervously paced the room, "and watch the incoming steamers. Clayton-Bulwer Treaty Abandoned.

Cleveland Stands in With the British.

A Straining After Examples Which He Thinks Will Serve for

Nicaragua Must Yield or Fight Alone-A Precedent That May Lead Anywhere-Troops to Land Today.

NEW YORK, April 25.—A special from Washington says that from the most trustworthy sources it is learned that the President has again upset the policy which Secretary Gresham had outlined in dealing with the Nicaragua question and has taken matters practically in his own hands. There is to be no protest on the part of the United States against any ac-tion that Great Britain may take in enforcing her demands for the prompt payment of the $75,000 of the claimed for the expulsion of her consul Gresham's carefully-outlined programme was to prevent the landing of troops, the seizure of the customhouse and the ces-sion of any land which Nicaragua might be willing to transfer to Great Britain in payment of the indemnity. The President, however, has decided that so long as England makes no direct attempt to annex any part of Nicaragua this country will not interfere.

Nicaragua's last hope of assistance from United States vanished this evening. Guzman, the Nicaraguan Minister, who has been waiting with intense anxiety to see Secretary Gresham, was finally suctary came into the department from the White House, where he had been in consultation with President Cleveland, pre-sumably on the same subject.

The interview was very short. In five minutes the Minister emerged from the Secretary's office looking very much de-pressed. He refused to say a word as to what had taken place, but it can be stated that the Secretary gave him to under-stand very clearly that the United States would not interfere in the case as it stands. So there are now three courses open to Nicaragua namely: To pay the indemnity; to permit the occupation of Corinto, or fight, and the next tweive hours must find the choice declared, for the British troops are to land at daybreak tomor-

As already stated in the Associated Press dispatches, the position taken by the President in this matter is that the dispute is entirely between Great Britain and Nicaragua, in which the United States has no call to incerfere unless there should be committed acts injurious to American interests in Nicaragua, or there should be shown a disposition by Great Britain to acquire Nicaraguan territory. On each of these points a favorable assurance has been had from Great Britain, and it is said that all that can now be done is to watch the course of events. This decision was not hastily reached, for the entire subject of our relations to the countries of Central and South America was considered and discussed carefully by the President with his constitutional advisers and there has been made a close scrutiny of the precedents that might suffice for their guidance. These have been found in at least three cases.

The first precedent was fully set out in the message of President Buchanan to Congress in 1859, in that portion relating to Paraguay. For several years preceding this message the United States had great difficulty in maintaining friendly relations with Paraguay, the latter country being then under the dictatorship of Dr. Lapez, who was carrying out a policy of As already stated in the Associated Prese eing then under the dictatorship of Dr. Lopez, who was carrying out a policy of excluding the rest of the world from his country by the most drastic measures. He had, as President Buchanan stated, upon the most frivolous and even insult-ing pretexts; refused to ratify the treaty of friendship and commerce concluded with Paraguay; had seized and appropriated the property of American citizens residing in the country in a violent and arbitrary manner, and finally the Paraguayans had fired upon the U.S.S. Waterwitch in 1855, was making a peaceful survey of the Parana river to determine its fitness for was making a peaceful survey of the Parana river to determine its fitness for steam navigation.

The honor as well as the interests of the United States demanded satisfaction, and the President, being clothed by Congress with the necessary power, sent a naval expedition up the Parana River to the capital of Paraguay and compelled ample apologies from the President, the payment of an indemnity of $10,000 to the family of the man who was killed, and finally secured the ratification of the treaty. The application of this case to the Nicaraguan situation is not exact, but it is regarded as committing the United States to the recognition of the principle of the right to demand an indemnity for the abuse of United States officers, and, therefore, it could not consistently deny the same right to Great Britain.

The second case which was relied upon as a precedent grew out of the difficulties encountered by Spain, France and Great Britain in their relations with Mexico in 1860. These nations asserted that they had been placed by the arbitrary and vexa-other civilized states, that neither of the sovereigns by whom the convention has been concluded shall seek or obtain any acquisition of territory or any advantage peculiar to itself, and not equally left open to the United States and every other civilized state within the territories of Mexico, especially that neither one or all of the contracting parties shall, as a result or consequence of the hostilies to be inaugurated under the convention, exercise in the subsequent affairs of Mexico influence calculated to impair the right of the Mexican people to choose and treely to institute the form of its own government."

It appears that taese stipulations were acknowledged by the contracting parties to the satisfaction of President Lincoln, although it was found necessary, after the close of our own war, to take steps to expel Maximilian from Mexico. The third precedent was found in the case of the war between Spain and Chile in 1866, when, upon being appealsd to on behalf of Chile in the name of the Monroe Joetrine to prevent the bombardment of Valpariso, Secretary Seward wrote to United States Minister Patrick at Valparaiso as follows: "The government of the United States will maintain and insist, with all the decision and energy which are compatible with—our existing neutrality, that the republic which is accepted by ray of these cision and energy which are compatible, with our existing neutrality, that the republic which is accepted by any of chase (South American) States, shall not be subverted as the end of a lavviul war by European powers, but beyond this point the United States government will not go, nor will it consider itself hereby bound to take part in wars in which a South American republic may enter with a European sovereign, when the boject of the latter is not the establishment, in the place of the subverted republic, of a mpnarchy under a European prince.

place of the subverted republic, of a monarchy under a European prince. Upon these precedents rests the decision of the administration to relatin from interference between Great Britain and Nicaragua at this stage of the proceedings. In behalf of Nicaragua, though without success, it would appear that it has been urged that the occupation of Ceruto by the British troops would be a direct violation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty between the United States and Great Britain. A provision of that treaty prohibits British occupation of Central American territory. Art. I covenants that the United States and Great Britain agree that neiter will ever erect or maintain any fortifica-

States and Great Britain agree that neither will ever erect or maintain any fortifications commanding the Nicaragua Canal, or in the vicinity thereof, or occupy, fortify or colonize, or assume or exercise any dominion over Nicaragua, Costa Rica, the Mosoutio Coast, or any part of Central America.

It is pointed out this is even more binding than the Monroe doctrine, as the latter is a principle asserted by the United States, while the treaty is an agreement to which Great Britain is a party. There have been individual statements on both sides of the water that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was abrogated, yet the governments sides of the water that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was abrogated, yet the governments have never formally abrogated it. A resolution was introduced in the last Senate to abrogate it, indicating that those who opposed it considered it still in force. The terms, it is held, appear to be very definite against Great Britain's occupying or exercising any dominion over Nicaragus.

GRESHAM BEGS FOR TIME.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Up to 3 o'clock today no official word had come as to Nicaragua's decision on the British as to Nicaragua's decision on the British ultimatum. It is known that Nicaragua is in a state of great excitement. The authorities are understood to be in consultation. There is a very strong conviction among officials, however, that Nicaragua will not yet yield. At the State Department great reticence prevails, but there is reason to believe that Secretary Gresham has cabled to Ambassador Bayard suggesting a brief respite as a means toward the adjustment, but not proposing intervention. It is regarded as settled that the United States will not intervene.

WASHINGTON, April 25.-Dr. Guzman, the Nicaraguan Minister, was at the State the Nicaraguan Minister, was at the State Department this afternoon, but was unable to see Secretary Gresham. The Minister was very much perturbed, for, while he had no advices directly from his government relative to the projected landing at Corinto later than those of yesterday, he is evidently in great doubt of the favorable disposition of the administration.

It is intimated by some officials, in explanation of the harmony of view between the United States and Great Britain in the matter of forcing the British ultimatum reported from London, that the United States itself has an interest in the success of the British alternative.

States itself has an interest in the success of the British attempt to collect indemnity, being about to make a demand on Honduras for indemnity for the murder of the American Renton and the destruction of his estate there last spring, and also to move on Guatemala for reparation for the ill-treatment of a number of Americans by government officials.

"IT IS A CRIME." NEW YORK, April 25. — Frederick R. Coudert, who is recognized as the leading lawyer in the practice of international abuse of United States officers, and, therefore, it could not consistently deny the same right to Great Britain.

The second case which was relied upon as a precedent grew out of the difficulties encountered by Spain, France and Great Britain in their relations with Mexico in 1869. These nations asserted that they had been plaged by the arbitrary and veatious conduct of Mexico under the necessity of exacting from the authorities of that country a more effective protection for the persons and properties of other States, as well as the execution of obligations contracted with them by Mexico, and therefore they had combined to effect their ends by force, if need be. The United States, which had similar grievances against Mexico, was invited to join these European nations in enforcing their demands. This invitation was declined by the United States, which was then in the United States, which was then in the throse of civil war, but the significant point in the case is found in the Jeclaration by Secretary Seward:

"As the undersigned has heretofore had the honor to inform each of the plenipotentiaries now addressed, the President decide for themselves the fact that they have sustained grievances and to resort to war against Mexico for the redress thereof, and also have a "ight to levy the war severally or jointly. The United States has a deep interest, which, however, they are happy to believe, is an interest held by them in common with all

CALCUTTA, April 25.—(By Indian Cable.) A dispatch from Simia today announces the contents of the diary of Dr. Robertson, the British political agent at Chitral, who was besieged in a fort there and was relieved on Saturday last by a column commanded by Col. Kelly, has been received there. He says that on March 3 the British garrison made a reconnoisance in force, lost twenty-two officers and men killed, and had thirty-one wounded. The siege proper began on March 4. On March 8 the enemy tried to set fire to a water tower, and on March 14 the besiegers attacked the east side of the fort, but were repulsed. directs that no sanction be granted for races on Sunday, and that men competing in unsanctioned races be suspended for the first offense thirty days, and for the second one year. The tribesmen occupied a summer-house about fifty yards from the tower, about April 15, and the next day advanced a stone breastwork to within forty yards of the main gate of the fort. On April 7 the enemy fired the tower. While the garrison was fighting the flames, Dr. Robertson was wounded, and several of the British force were killed or wounded. The enemy attempted, on April 3, to set fire to the citadel, and on April 11 the fort was attacked on all sides. The garrison made a sortie on April 17, recaptured the summer-house and blew up the enemy's mine. The British loes in the sortie was eight killed, thirteen wounded. The enemy lost sixty killed, of whom thirty-five were bayonsted by troops. On April 19 the siege was raised.

THE WRONG TRICK. Efforts of a Race-track Sharp Make a Winning.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Declarations were filed in the United States Circuit Court in two suits begun last fall which charge Richard S. Rispan, formerly the Chicago manger of the Sun Insurance Company of San Francisco, with being a defaulter to the amount of $20,000. The suits were brought against the bondsmen and at the same time they were filed the alleged defalcation was not made public.

In the formal declaration the plaintiff sets forth that Rispan was appointed its agent in March, 1893, and on February 20, 1894, he was dismissed from its service. The company investigated his accounts, finding that he had failed to make a proper return, it alleges, of his collections and business, and was short in his accounts to the amount of $20,000. He gave the boy a syringe and a bottle of laudanum with which to do the work. Instead, the boy reported the matter to Charles Boots, the filly's owner, and the horse was carefully guarded. Warren's efforts were needless, however, for Seraphin won without trouble.

The Associated Press correspondent interviewed several who escaped. They say the scene on the fourth floor was terrible. When the first rush for the stairway occurred, the passage-way was solidly packed and many fainted and feil under the feet of the crowd. Then a rush was made to the windows, but the crowd forgot about the heavy screens which guarded the windows. Frantic women tore their hands beating against the obstructions, but the irons were too strong for their feeble blows. Death seemed inevitable until Marie Gagnon found a window that yieljed to the determined blows of those who could bring their united efforts to bear. Burmeister had refused to swear to the second complaint necessary for a hearing of an insenity case, so there was no foundation for the action and the young prisoner's dismissal followed as a matter of course. He hurried to his hotel, then to the bank where he drew some money and began a series of hurried visits to lifterent stores. He stopped Constable Seroy, and asked: "How much would it cost me to assault a man."

Seroy answered: "Now, look here, young man, you behave yourset, like a gentleman. If you have a case against any one begin suit, but do no fighting."

The lord hurried on, his thin, light trousers flapping from the force of his energetic movements. Common mortals stood on the corner, watching and wondering if he was preparing for the aforcesid assault, for a hurried departure to other parts, or to consummate the marriage according to the vow he made his lady-love yesterday afternoon.

the vow he made his lady-love yesterday afternoon.

About 4 o'clock this afternoon the mystery was solved. His Lordship was on his muscle. He went to the Californian office and asked George F. Weeks, the editor, if the Chronicle correspondent was employed there. The reply was that that was a professional secret. He left, but soon returned. He was seen to enter the office, and in a remarkably brief space of time he emerged like a shot. After him came Weeks and the office force, apparently bent on the destruction of the young lord. A few minutes later His Lordship, somewhat ruffled in appearance, entered the office of Justice Fox, and informed His Honor that he had assaulted the Chronicle correspondent. "I hit him three times in the face, when four or five set on me from behind and put me out. I desire to plead guilty."

correspondent. "I hit him three times in the face, when four or five set on me from behind and put me out. I desire to plead guilty."

Constable Seroy swore to the complaint and Douglas was fined $5.30, the exact costs. The Justice then read the law, which says he could fine him for battery any sum not exceeding $1000, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both. Douglas said: "Aht, is that so? And I thought $5 was the limit. I was informed that that was the case."

Weeks gives a different version of the encounter. He says that Lord Douglas, after saying that he (Weeks) had been publishing lies about him, struck at him. The lord missed his aim, and, before he could try again, was thrown into the street. Douglas left, saying that he would return with his crowd and square things. Weeks told him that he would shoot the first of his crowd that entered the building. His Lordship is at present engaged in hunting for other correspondents.

After reciting the hard feeling existing between St. Olair and Mate Fitzgerald, caused by the latter's tyrannical conduct, Spart testified that on the night of the murder St. Clair told him that there would be some fun. Soon afterwards, as the mats stooped to pass under a yardarm, St. Clair struck Fitzgerald on the head with a hatchet and then chopped his head to pieces. St. Clair then requested the witness to summon the captain and say that Fitzgerald had fallen from the rigging, the plan being to murder the sleipper also when he came on deck. SAN DIEGO, April 25.—The death of Coxswain John Johnson of the cruiser Olympia on Wednesday morning was not caused by the blowing out of the breech plug of the five-inch rifle as at first reported, but by the recoil of the rifle itself. The accident was said by Johnson's comrades to be wholly inexcusable, and they laid the fault on the ordnance inspector at Mare Island, who was supposed to have gone over the guns and attended to them. The big guns are so mounted that the recoil is taken up by a mechanism similar to a cylinder and piston-rod, the material inside the cylinder being glycerine, which, as the gun recoils, is forced past the piston into the other chamber of the cylinder, taking up the force of the recoil by its slow action. ed, but by the recoil of the rifle itsel strange in detail and rich in romance, has been unfolded in connection with a suit brought by Edward A. McMarhon to gain possession of a valuable estate in California, left by John Bensley, who died at San Francisco in June, 1889.

McMahon is manager for the Reed Roofing Company of this city. For nearly twenty-nine years he lived under the supposition that his name was McMahon, and that he was a son of boor parents. Within ninety days the obtained evidence which satisfies him that his real name is Grenville, that he is a step-son of John Bensley, and that this mother was Bensley's wife. At the time of Bensley's death all his property was held in fee simple by his wife, who followed him to the grave a few mooths later. The couple were apparently childless, so if McMahon succeeds in establishing his relationship he will obtain the whole estate, which consists of property in San Francisco and San Diego, Cal., and in Centralia, Wash., valued at more than $500,000.

John Bensley was one of California's ploneer citizens, and at one time in his career was reputed to be worth $10,000,000.

He lived and moved among the set of multi-milhonaires which sprang up like mushrooms in California's early days of lavishness. His home was in San Francisco. She represented herself as the widow of George Grenville, member of Parliament, and a daughter of the Earl of Bensley. He was twenty-nine years the senior of Mrs. Grenville, vet she gladly accepted him when he proposed marriage. The couple went to Europe on a wedding trip, and Bensley sought in vain for the noble relatives and the castles and country seats of which his wife had boasted. It dawned upon him that he was the victim of an adventuress, but the discovery did not dampen the ardor of his love.

They returned to California, and there, in 1876, Edward A. McMahon first ap-covery did not dampen the ardor of his love.

They returned to California, and there, in 1876, Edward A. McMahon first appeared upon the scene. He was living on a farm at Clarksville, Mo., at the time, and was sent for by Mrs. Bensley. He traveled to San Francisco alone, and was affectionately received by the woman he now says was his mother. He was sent to the San Mateo Military Academy for two years, and was aftenward given a course at the university at Berkeley. McMahon was 10 years old when he went to California. Mrs. Bensley paid for his education and supplied him with money lavishly, explaining to her husband that the boy was her nephew.

And so affairs went on for several years, when reverses began to come to John Bensley. He found his fortune slipping away from him, and to save something from the wreck deeded a considerable portion of his property to relatives of his wife, who, in turn, deeded it back to her in fee simple. The transfers were considered suspicious by Bensley's creditors, and litigation ensued which was not ended for a decade. The case was still in the courts when Bensley died in 1893. Six months later Mrs. Bensley died at Las Vegas, N. M., of paralysis. The case in court was compromised, and four claimants for the Bensley estate urged their rights in the Probate Court. They were Jennle Goodnich, Lucy Roundtree, Sarah E. Hardesty and B. G. Chandos. The women were sistens of Mrs. Bensley, and Chandos, whose right name is said to be Zach Ingles, was her brother.

No other heirs appeared, and the Probate Court ordered the property divided among them. This was done, but Chandos, who engineered the scheme to gain possession of the property, neglected to have the estate finally settled, leaving a loophole which McMahon has taken advantage of to have the petition set aside. It was represented to the Probate Court that the her nephew.

claimants were the only heirs of Mrs. Bensley, when, as a matter of fact, three other sisters are living in the United States.

Mrs. Bensley's malden name was Marie Louise Ingles. She was married three times. Her first husband was now living in Kansas City. He lived with her only a short time and left her to obtain a divorce. In 1885 she was married in London, England, to Edward A. Grenville, the father of Edward A. McMahon. The second matrimonial venture was equally unfortunate, for a separation occurred after a few months. The boy, who is now fighting for the California estate, was the fruit of her marriage. He was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., on January 4, 1866. To hide his identity from his father, the boy's last name was changed to McMahon, the name of his mother's aunt. Mrs. Bensley left her son in charge of his grandmother and weat to California, where she met and was married to her last husband. Young McMahon lived with and was brought up in the belief that Mrs. Sarah Hardesty was his aunt and that his mother and father were dead.

"I began to suspect," said McMahon, in speaking of this strange case, "that there was something more than mere friendship behind Mrs. Bensley's treatment of me. She educated me, gave me all the money I wanted and something in my heart told me she was my mother, and now I know she was. On her death bed at Las Vegas she told the landlady at the hotel that Edward McMahon was her son. I have other proofs just as convincing, which, for obvious reasons, it would be unwise for me to make known just at present."

Suit to set aside the partition of the Bensley estate has been brought in the Probate Court in San Francisco by McMahon's lawyer, who is now in the East obtaining evidence and affidavits to be used at the trial of the case. McMahon will go to California next month and will probably remain there until the case is settled.

I suggest that in his next address he take two or three other sayings of our Lord: "I came not to send peace on the earth, but a sword." "I am come to send fire on the earth." "Suppose ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, may; but rather diversion." These utterances of the Lord are significant and to the point, as opposed to peace; while of the first two, the "Put up thy sword" is irrelevant, and the other only inferentially indicates peace.

irrelevant, and the other only interentially indicates peace.

People are misguided quite as often by a presentation of half-truths as of positive untruths. There is no mention in the scriptures of a time, during the present dispensation, when peace shall universally or even generally prevail over the world. Wars have not ceased, except at short intervals, since the creation of man, and for the last two thousand years the so-called Christian nations have been foremost in the last two thousand years the so-called Christian nations have been foremost in the inauguration and carrying on of the most bloody and cruel contests the world has ever known. And even at this present writing, after thirty or forty years of strenuous effort on the part of the peace societies of the world, there are not less than a dozen distinct wars being waged in different parts of christendom; to which may be added, that the relations between half a dozen other governments are so stained that a little circumstance may snap the bond of peace and involve them in a deathly struggle for supremacy.

Peace societies can never banish war and strife until the large majority of the human race become law-abiding and peace-

The Point of View.

The Point of View.

(Philadelphia Times:) There is no more difficult subject to discuss discreetly, as a public question, than that which is somewhat too freely and indiscreetly discussed in these days under the vague term of "the nude in art." Whatever may be the case with beauty, it is certainly in a large-sense true that nudity "is in the eye of the beholder." It is often impossible for a clean-minded person to conceive the mental attitude of those who can see offense in a statue or a picture that to him is but the expression of grace and beauty, or of those who find vulgar-suggestion in the classic ballet. Yet there are such people, and though we may despise them, we cannot always disregard them.

When Mrs. Trollope was in Philadelphia haif a century or more ago and saw the casts from the antique at the academy screened off as though it were improper to look at them, she not only felt herself insulted, but took the insult as evidence of the innate vulgarity of all Americans. In truth, it only indicated their deficient education at that period. It is the immature mind, whether in young or old, the mind that has not been developed beyond mere animal associations, that can look upon a Greek statue with a leer. But it is a fact we have to reckon with that a very large number of people in every community are still in this sense immature. Reasonably good men and women they may be, but they have that vulgar tendency that we often find among boys. And as we forbid many things to boys that we would not forbid to adults, so we cannot assume that all adults are mentally grown-up and capable of intelligent ideas.

Kate Field, in her Washington, protests that the project to raise a fund to erect a monument over the grave of John Brown at North Elba, N. Y., is needless. Already at the head of the grave there is a huge and historic boulder that was regarded with special veneration by the Browns. It bears insertiptions not only to the famous abolitionist, but also to his grandfather, who was killed while serving in the Colonial army, to John Brown himself, his two sons who were killed at Harper's Ferry and one other of the Brown family who was murdered. "Is there," Miss Field asks, "a patriot in all the land who would remove so historic a stone for all the marble of Carrara?"

The first English book on stenography, so far as known, was written by Dr. Timothy Bright in 1588. Its earlier inventions are attributed to the Latin poet, Ennius, to Seneca, Cicero and several others.

The California June Beetle

The California June Beetle.

[Witten fir The Times.]

No one who has lived in the East will need a photograph of the old June beetle or May bug, as it was often incorrectly called. The May or June beetle came lumbering into our rooms in the warm evenings of early summer. Its loud hum, headlong and perilous dash against the wall, its quick fall to the floor and subsequent rise to repeat the same beetleheaded maneuver, its robust form and rich brown color, are distinctly in the minds of all who have occupied an evening in the same apartment with it. The adult or imago May beetle did no very serious harm; true, it fed freely on foliage; but usually that of the oak, and other forest trees, served for its nightly banquets, and as these had leaves enough and to spare, no great mischief was done. Not so the great sleek, plump grub or larva—the white grub of the farmer. It fed on the roots of the grasses of lawn and meadow, and often destroyed utterly acres of the best meadow or pasture, by entirely consuming the roots which anchored and fed the succulent grasses. This dreaded white grub or May beetle is known to science as Lachnosterna fusca, and belongs to one of the largest families of beetles—Searabeidae.

We are fortunate in California in not having with us the June beetle of the East, but unfortunate in having a close relative of the same family, which I shall christen the California June beetle. This pest of Southern California is known technically as Serica fimbriata.

This beetle is much smaller than the Eastern June beetle as it is only three-eighths of an irch long. It is even more handsome than its Eastern congener. It is a rich warm yellowish brown, with a beautiful setin-like iridescent lustre. Except that it is lighter colored, it is much like the beautiful Serica sericea of the East, and as with that, a very dark and almost black form is often seen.

like the beautiful Serica sericea of the East, and as with that, a very dark and almost black form is often seen. Later last season a smaller and less lustrous beetle was even more abundant and destructive than the June form. The larger and more handsome ones octurred in June, and the others in July or even in August. Dr. E. A. Schwartz of the Department of Agriculture, one of our best authorities, pronounces all of these the same Serica fimbriata, while Prof. Fall of Pomona, an expert coleopterist, thinks the smaller later ones are a different species, Serica mixta. Whether the ent species, Serica mixta. Wheth same or different, makes no est reliable parties that it also feeds on the roots of grasses.

This beetle feeds on foliage of nearly all our deciduous trees, especially plums, prunes, nectarines and apricots. It even attacked the sequoit at the experiment station near Pomona. A large apricot orchard of young trees near Pomona was wholly defoliated by this beetle in July last. Some young prunes close where I live would have suffered like injury in June had I not unearthed and destroyed the beetles at the very beginning of their attack. Of course of goes without saying that such defoliation will be a serious backset to the trees, and if repeated two backset to the trees, and if repeated or three years, will be ruinous.

REMEDIES. If spraying with London purple—London purple is cheaper, and just as effective as Paris green—will destroy these beetles, it is the cheapest remety. Such spraying, however, is not satisfactory with the rose cnafer, an insect of the same family East, and may not be with this California June beetle. A trial will soon decide the matter. In case it cannot be poisoned, it is not difficult to dig it out and so destroy it. The trees should be closely watched in June and July, and as soon as the ragged leaves show that the closely watched in June and July, and as soon as the ragged leaves show that the enemy is at work, the beetle should be hunted out and destroyed. It buries beneath the tree in the earth about four inches deep, and is easily found. This may seem a laborious process, but it is not and is much cheaper and better than to replace the trees and wait for it to mature. Besides all beetles killed this year will not get away and live to eat another day.

COMMERCIAL

Since the formation of the various ex-changes in California, methods of market-ing the fruit of the State are rapidly being brought down to a business-like sys-tem. A blank form of contract for the purchase and sale of dried fruits, nuts and raisins has been printed and sent out to applicants by the San Francisco Fruit llows: "Deliveries of peaches, ap "Deliveries.—Deliveries of peaches, apricots and pears under this contract, guaranteed equal in quality to type samples adopted by the San Francisco Fruit Exchange or special samples submitted. Deliveries of other truste (including prunes and raisins,) to be based upon either samples as submitted; brands or description at time of sale. Shipment within five days after confirmation of sale to constitute satisfactory delivery for immediate shipment, and within ten days for prompt shipment.

"Terms.—Free on board, common shipping point, net cash on arrival, unless ping point, net cash on arrival, unless otherwise specially agreed upon at time

"Claims.—All claims of any nature to be made within five days from arrival at destination. No claim for short weight to be allowed unless the same exceeds 1 per cent. of the California weight, and in that case only when accompanied by a public weighen's certificate.

"Arbitration.—Disagreements as to deliveries under this contract must be settled by arbitration. Costs of arbitration to be paid by the party losing the case."

From time to time complaints have been heard that the estimates of the wheat supply of the United States which are regularly prepared by the government have been allowed to leak out and that speculators have made large sums of money by obtaining possession of them ahead of time. Now one of the leading agricultural papers of the country, the Orange Judd Farmer of Chicago, claims that the estimate of wheat on hand made by the Department of Agriculture on March I was very far from being correct, in fact that it was not half large enough. The government estimate was 75,000,000 bushels, while the journal referred to claims that the reserve at that date amounted to 154,000,000 bushels. This is certainly a very great discrepancy. Estimates that are incorrect are worse than no estimates at all.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. The market gardening industry of the United States is a much more important one than many people imagine. At a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society Mr. Burnet Landreth gave the following statistics of the mar ket gardening industry of this country:

"Upward of one hundred million dollars are invested in this industry, the annual products reaching a value of over seventy-five million dollars, the products of over half a million acres of land, the annual expenditures for fertilizers being ten million dollars, the number of hands employed being seventy-five thousand eight hundred. The value of the imple ments used, eight million, nine hundre and seventy-one thousand dollars."

Efforts are still being made to intro-duce in California crops that have not yet been cultivated on a commercial scale. A few days ago reference was made in these columns to a synarium Pres.; N. G.

"No better example could be given of the profits possible to be realized than the experience of one farmer, who furnished beets to the Watsonville factory. He had needing, topping and putting on the wagon of the profit possible to the vaction of the Sugar Beet, writing from San Francisco, gives the following fro

Dun's local report for the week is as follows, and is very encouraging:

Our New York review at close of business last week leads to the conclusion that an attempt is being made by the power of combination to increase prices on some leading staples, resulting in a small increase in clearing-house transactions, but most of the advance is so apparently factitious that it gave little cause for actual encouragement in legitimate trade circles. Failures decreased through the country in comparison with the corresponding week last year.

Turning, however, to our own district, we find the most encouraging signs. It before the Interstate Commerce Commis-sion in this city has been so convincing that railroad attorneys and officials have conceded the justice of the demand of Den-were jobbers and manufacturers for a feduction of rates, but they contend that if lower through rates be granted the rates to intermediate points shall not be lowered correspondingly. Colorado complainants do not object to this exception since all they demand is to be put on an equal footing with Chicago and other Eastern points in reaching markets west, north and south. The commission began hearing evidence today on the complaint of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. The chief point made by this concern is that the steel and iron plants of Birmingham, Ala., can ship their products to the Pacific Goast more cheaply than the same class of freight can be shipped from Pueblo, Colo.

THE POINT AT ISSUE.

Iron and Coal Deposits and the Southern Pacific Rates.

Judge D. C. Beaman, in opening the case for the Iron company, said that really the only point at issue was whether the Almighty had not made a mistake in putting large deposits of iron and coal in Colorado instead of along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. He read the complaints which set forth in detail that the Southern Pacific, as well as other roads, publishes a rate on steel rails and other articles of iron and steel of $1.50 per 100 pounds from Pueblo to San Francisco, while, at the same articles from Chicago, while, at the same articles from Chicago, while, at the same articles from Pueblo to San Francisco are unreasonable, and absolutely prohibit any iron or steel husless in that market.

English steel rails are delivered along side the docks at San Francisco, the price of the rails, freight, insurance and duty all included, at less that $1.60 are 1900.

English steel rails are delivered along-side the docks at San Francisco, the price of the rails, freight, insurance and duy all included, at less than $1.50 per 100 pounds, which is the published rate for transportation only from Pueblo. This is claimed to be an unjust discrimination against Pueblo, and undue preference and advantage to localities further east, and therefore in violation of the third section of the interstate commerce law.

It is further alleged that in charging higher rates from Pueblo than are charged from seaboard points, Chicago, Missisippi and Missouri River points to San Fran-cisco, the fourth section of the interstate commerce law is completely ignored and therefore violated.

cisco, the fourth section of the interstate commerce law is completely ignored and therefore violated.

The company further says that the general business of the company in supplying fuel to Colorado industries is to a large extent affected by a wholesale discrimination whereby such industries are deprived of a chance to sell their goods in the San Francisco market, and that the raies and charges made by the railway companies on all other goods and wares than those above specified, carried from Pueblo, Denver and common points in California, are unreasonable and unjust. Paul Morton, second vice-president of the Colorado Iron Company, gave a destalled account of the manner in which its products are kept out of the California markets.

BIG HAILSTONES

Devastation Wrought in Three Texas

Counties By a Storm. SAN ANTONIO (Tex.,) April 25.—A ter rife hallstorm which swept through Wil-son, Bexar and Medina counties last night did $200,000 damage. Hallstones as large did $200,000 damage. Hallstones as large as goose-eggs covered the ground to a depth of two feet. Lytle, Benton City and Castroville were devastated, the houses being riddled like sieves. The damage to residences and business-houses in Lytle alone amounts to $50,000. A hundred head of live stock were killed.

The track of the International and Great Northern Railroad was blockaded with hallstones, which had to be removed before the trains could proceed. The cotton and corn crops in the path of the storm were completely destroyed. A subscription was started here today for the relief of the sufferers.

AS TO CHURCHES AND SIDE EN-TRANCES

A San Francisco saloon-keeper re cently sent in a petition to the Board of Supervisors of that city, asking that the side entrances of churches should be closed, that sofas should be removed from the rooms, and that the parsons should be licensed.

At first sight this would appear to be a most absurd, unreasonable and impertinent suggestion, but in view of some of the developments of the murder case in San Francisco the sugges tion is not quite so absurd as it seems on its face. Some facts have brought out in connection with that which are calculated to excite a mild surprise in the minds of those who are not in the habit of frequent ing churches, either through the front or side entrances. It was shown that number of young men had keys to the side entrance of the church, leading to the parlors, and that it was so mon a thing to see young men and women entering the church by a side gate at all hours of the day and night that the neighbors had ceased to comment upon it. One of the reports that have been circulated in connection with this case is that Durrant took the Lamont girl into the parlors of the church to perform a criminal operation upon her. or not this may be so-and it appears to have since been denied by the physicians-the mere fact that it should be considered possible for such a thing to be done within the walls of a sancry is sufficient to show that, in at least some churches, affairs are managed in a manner so loose as to call investigation and reform. It is not to be supposed that the church over which Mr. Gibson presided is the only one of its class. Anybody who reads the papers or moves around much among people knows that such is not the case. There has been a tendency of late years among many church organizations to come down from the high position which churches formerly held, as induce ments to a better way of life and guides to a better life that is supposed to lie beyond this one-to neglect the work of directing souls to God while battling with the devil on even ground for bodies to swell the size of their congregations, by making the churches as socially attractive as possible Thus the world is no longer surprised to read from time to time of church ffairs which include lotteries, mock sales of girls by auction, kissing matches, or even the privilege of hugging the ladies of the congregation at so much per hug. All of this is, of rse, for the cause of charity or re ion; it may be to eke out the small mlary of the pastor, or it may be to blankets for the unfortunate then of Central Africa. The obects are, no doubt, worthy, but this s to be carrying the doctrine of the means sanctifying the end" to a gerous extent.

this San Francisco church in which terrible a double crime was perperated. Preachers are always ready nuce social sins from the pu and are not backward about cenigence in agitating reforms. If, wever, there are many churches in hich such opportunities for immoralare held out to young people as ley were in Mr. Gibson's church-if of these holy edifices are utiled by members of the congregation stion houses it is certainly time that the ministers of the gospel who preside over those churches cease from casting stones until they have strengthened the glass houses in which they live, for such a state of affairs as is shown to have prevailed in this San Francisco church is fully as dangerous to the community as those inventions of the devil, the theater, the ballroom and the Sunday paper.

IN THE HANDS OF THEIR FRIENDS.

Once more a still small voice come from Indianapolis, the home of Ben jamin Harrison, Esq., ex-President of the United States, and says that this gentleman will be a candidate for President in 1896. As usual, the statement emanates from a "Republican of national prominence," whoever that may be. It is further stated that Mr. Harrison is to be the candidate of the bimetallists, that is to say, he is to be nominated by the Republicans as a compromise candidate. The nationally prominent Republican said:

"I do not know if Gen. Harrison will actively seek the nomination. He can get it without uttering a word. The silver people of the West know his entiments and they are satisfied that he stands for all they can hope to get in 1896. The speech which Gen. Har-rison made in Colorado February 23, 1893, while on his way to California, will nominate him. It was the first utterance of the ex-President after he had left the White House."

An intimation also occasionally creeps into the papers that the portly eman who now occupies the at the White House is likewise "in the hands of his friends," and might possibly be prevailed upon to overcome hi scruples and sink his natural modesty so far as to be a candidate for re-ele tion next yer. Presumably Mr. Cleve land would be the standard-bearer of those who believe in what he is pleased to term "sound money." although he has so far declined severa pressing invitations to explain just what he means by that phrase.

It would certainly be a curious spec tacle if the people of the United States, or their delegates to the national conventions, with about 10,000, 000 eligible adult males to choose from should feel compelled to renominat both, or either, of these American citi zens, neither of whom has given satis faction to the members of his own party, not to speak of the people at

However, it is one thing for ambi tious candidates to procure their names to be mentioned by friends of "national reputation" and quite an other thing for them to be nominated as both Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleve land will undoubtedly find out be fore they are eighteen months older

Certain things appear to be taken for granted in the Emanuel Church mys tery which ought not to be so taken. instance, it is assumed that the Williams girl was murdered between 8 and 9 o'clock on the evening of Friday, April 12. There is no warrant for this assumption. She may have been murdered at any time from midnight to 6 o'clock Saturday morning. There is no proof to the contrary, and no particular effort seems to have been made to determine the time of her death. An analysis of the contents of the stomach would have shown how far digestion had progressed when it was stopped by death, and a thorough examination of the blood in the library-room where she was discovered would have indicated approximately the hour of her death. This is a vita factor of the case. In the case of the Lamont girl it is assumed that her body was placed in the belfry on the day of her disappearance, April 3, There is no positive ground for this assumption. There is no proof that the girl was murdered on April 3, but it is assumed as a foregone conclusion that such was the fact. There are many other unfounded assumptions upon which the authorities are proceeding in the strenuous effort to sus tain the police "theory" as to the guilt of the man accused of these awful crimes.

President Cleveland professes to see no menace to the Monroe doctrine in the announced intention of Great Britain to seize Corinto, blockade its port, and loot the Nicaraguan customs reve nue to the amount of $75,000 in satisfaction of a sentimental and punitive claim for damages. Now listen for a concerted anthem from the British press in praise of Mr. Cleveland's superlative wisdom and colossal states manship, "If Durrant didn't commit the Emanuel Baptist Church murders, who did?" is a question asked every hour

JAPAN'S PROGRESS.

The civilized world is waking up to the fact that Japan is a civilized country with a population of progres-sive people. She has conquered China and has doubtless opened the door for progress to enter behind the great Chinese wall of semi-barbarian exclusiveness, and great changes will doubtless take place in the Celestial Empire within a few years, as its timate touch with Western enlight-

But Japan is now far in advance of the world-old kingdom which she has conquered. Among other evidences of Japan's intellectual development we ent of the Montreal Daily Star, who writes that "Japan is now publishing some of the most beautiful books of the world, and there is an establishment in Tokio which will compare in size with those of our big publishers. The prices for printing and engraving are wonderfully cheap, and I believe that our offices could make money by having their plates prepared in Japan and printed there or here. I don't know as to the copyright-law in this respect, but you can get the finest half-tone work, such as is used in our best magazine illustrations for 15 cents per square inch in American money. Such illustrations cost from 40 to 50 cents per square inch in this

Elegant books are not published un less there is a demand for them, and the demand for them does not exist save amid a cultured and intelligent people. The fact that there is a call them in Japan speaks volumes for the progress which that country has made, and is making toward the progressive life and habits of Western

It is reported that Russia, France and Germany have agreed to join forces in demanding a modification of the treaty of peace just concluded be tween Japan and China, to the extent of preventing the acquisition of any territory by Japan on the Chinese It is an odd alliance-France and Germany with Russiaand there is not much likelihood that it will hold together long. It has very much the appearance of an attempt to coerce Japan into giving up some of the fruits of her victory to those who had no part in the struggle. Russia desires a seaport in eastern waters far enough to the south so that it will be open all the year round. Germany desires certain commercial privileges and concessions, while France has in terests, real or imaginary, which she professes to think will be jeopardized if the treaty is allowed to stand Whether Japan will make concessions to these powers, or will defy them, is at present an important question in

If Nicaragua were a large and pow erful nation instead of a small and weak one, John Bull would not venture upon so high-handed a proceeding as to blockade one of its principal ports and seize its revenue. John Bull has been called the pirate of the seas, and is fast proving his title to the name. This cowardly assault upon the independence of a Central American republic would not have been planned if John Bull had not been certain that he had friends at Washington.

It is estimated by the Atlanta Constitution that two-thirds of the delegates to the next Democratic National Convention will be free-silver-coinage men. If this estimate should prove correct, the demoralization of the Den ocracy would be complete, and it would not stand the ghost of a show for success at the polls.

Back in New York the great Republican boss, now being fought so vigorously by the municipal reform people, is known as T. C. Platt. The New York Tribune remarks that certain members of the Legislature always read it "See T. Platt."

There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the precise meaning of the words monometallism and bimetal lism. Some of these differences of pinion are pretty sure to be elimin before the close of the next Presiden tial campaign.

The New York Press concludes tha 'possibly Phoebe forgot that it isn't considered just the thing for Couzens to marry." And possibly the ex-Sens tor forgot that it isn't Fair to take dvantage of innocence and inexpe rience.

The most potential factor in settling the Japanese-Chinese question seems to be plain Mr. "Chink." Although Li Hung Chang and others arranged matters, "Chink" was the factor that talked.

did?" is a question asked every hour in San Francisco. The idea of the police and the press of that city appears to be that if Durrant is to escape the gallows he must furnish a substitute in the person of the real murderer.

A magazine-writer says the Chinese articles of war are: "First, prepare to look fierce; second, look fierce; third, approach the enemy." That may be the theory as est down in the manual of arms, but in practice the Chinese soldier adda two others, to-wit: Fourth, skip out; fifth, if the enemy is a Jap, omit one, two and three and strike in on number four.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session was devoted to the report on beneficiary education, and the application of the newly-organized St. Matthew's Lutheran congregation of San Francisco, for reception to the synod. The petition was granted.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to an edifying discussion on the work of the Holy Spirit, by Rev. W. Uhlof Monrovia.

work of the Holy Spirit, by Rev. W. Uhlof Monrovia.

The evening session consisted in an interesting and entertaining lecture, illustrated by eighty stereopticon views. The subject was, "Foreign Missions of the Lutheran Church," and the lecturer was the Rev. C. F. Oehler of Sacramento.

The speaker stated that the Lutheran church was the pioneer church in missionary work. Its missionaries have literally gone to the uttermost parts of the earth with the gospel of Christ. His stereopticon yiews showed how civiliza. stereopticon views showed how civiliza-tion has followed the preaching of the word on every hand. It is owing to the efficient missionary work of the church that she today numbers 50,000,000 com-municants, and is the largest of Protestant cousin, Mrs. Ohl, of Atlanta, Ga. A specousin, Mrs. Ohl, of Atlanta, Ga. A spe-cial car was chartered by the hostess to take the guests from the city. Mrs. Glas-sell, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Andrew Glassell, Sr., and Mrs. Ohl, received her guests on the front verands, which was decorated in the most artistic fashion; the floor was covered with rose petals and the walk with palms and climbing roses, while guests on the front veranda, which was decorated in the most artistic fashion; the floor was covered with rose petals and the walk with paims and climbing roses, while on, either side of the doorway were jardinieres of paims and baskets of flowers. On the lawn punch was served by Miss Neille Brown and Miss Patten. A short distance away, a white teat made a pretty retreat for the refreshments; a tennis net was suspanded from the top of the tent and interwoven with Bankshire roses, and on each dainty table was a crystal vase holding one perfect rose. At the entrance were decorations of paims and yellow roses.

The guests were served by a bevy of pretty girls, the Misses Violet and Beatrice Wigmore, Adelaide Brown, Echo Allen, Julia Taylor, Louise Burke, Alice Graves and Aileen Mitchell.

Delighthul music was furnished by a band from the Orpheum.

Considerable amusement was caused by the guessing of each guest as to the number of roses upon a certain bush; the first prize was won by Mrs. Neille Brown, who guessed the exact number, and received a white and gold Bohemian vase. The second prize, a cut-glass rose bowl, was won by Mrs. Ohl, and the consolation, a pale green rose vase, by Mrs. Millem Phelps, Charles Willard, L. C. Goodwin, H. Wing, S. R. Thorpe, Elden P. The ladies of the Church of the Epiphans

The ladies of the Church of the Epiphany in East Los Angeles gave a charming parish tea yesterday afternson, at the residence of Mrs. M. D. Johnson of Griffin avenue. An informal, but most enjoyable programme was rendered; Mrs. Chamberlain sang several solos and Mmes. Taylor and Murdock were heard in delightful solos and duets. Mrs. Forsyth rendered a plano solo, and Mrs. Brett played the accompaniments. The drawing-rooms were a piano solo, and Mrs. Brett played the accompaniments. The drawing-rooms were artistically decorated with roses. In the dining-room the mantel and buffet were massed with feathery mustard; the lunch was served at small tables, which were each decorated in a different scheme of color. Miss Brigden presided over one, all in white roses and plumbago; Miss Turner's was pretty with pink vertens.

MUSICAL MENTION.

Mrs. Fanny Stenbouse-Gray, assisted by Alois Werner, tenor; A. M. Thornton, baritone; Arnold Krauss, violinist; C. W. Stovens, cellist, and Mrs. Larrabee, acat the Blanchard-Fitzgeraid Music Hall to an appreciative audience. The programme was enthusiastically and systematically encored from start to finish. Mrs. Gray has-a charming presence, and a rich and sympathetic contralto voice, but she sometimes sacrificed expression and sweetness to volume. Her voice is much too powerful for the small hall, and she seemed unable to adapt it to the small space in which she found herself. Doubtless her voice would be heard to much greater advantage in a larger hall. Mr. Krauss rendered his solos in his usual masterly style, and the Vieuxtemps "Reverie' especially, was exquisitely done.

Go where you please you will pay a dollar for no better goods. You can readily see why the trade grows. We advertise only what we carry out. No one disputes this fact. Go into the silk room—that wonderful growing silk department. Stop and consider the little lot we now mention. Black Brocade and Striped Silk Grenadines were $2, now $1; Cheney Bros. best India Silks down from $1.25 and $1 to 75c, a fine line of colors and styles; satin figured light India Silks down from $1.50 and $1.75 to 75c for the choice; they were a little high cost for quick selling; the price now will hurry them out of the store. Rainbow Striped Pongees, extra wide; been a little slow for the price; now 75c in place of $1.75. Fancy Figured Surah Silks down from $1 to 500 a yard. China Silks, light grounds with colored figures; small lots only the reason for the price being 50c in place of $1. These silk bargains are the proper things for ladies' waists. They are little odd lots that a price will move. We keep our stock in active shape by the quickening power of low prices. Cape bargains as well as all-wool skirt bargains. Another lot of samples at one-fourth less than the regular goods will be when the new come to hand.

the bid of Newell & McKillip for a term of two years was accepted.

It was stated by the superintendent that a committee consisting of L. Luckel, Mr. Rommel, Mr. Galbreth and Mr. Pierce had visited some of the parks on Wednesday and had expressed an intention to visit more of them yesterday for the purpose of investigating as to the advisability of the proposed issues of park bonds.

It was afterward admitted by one of the members of the committee that that body was acting for the American Protective Association.

After disposing of some other matters of interest the board adjourned.

The Board of Health had a meeting The Board of Hesith had a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of acting on the matter of the appointment of a meat and milk inspector. It will be remembered that two or three weeks ago the board had a competitive examination which was undergone by the several candidates. The papers written by them, containing the answers to the questions propounded, were submitted to the board and were examined.

It was found that in most respects Mr. Hester, a deputy under the County Veterinarian, had answered the questions most satisfactorily, but as he is not a most satisfactorily but as was debated esident of this city, it was debated thether it would be best to appoint him or to give the appointment to some one residing in the city.

The matter came up at a meeting of the board held last Monday, but no action was taken on it at that cime. Another meeting was held yesterday, at which time abers of the board withdrew to the private onnee, and intulged in a private conference, which lasted for a considerable time. No conclusion was arrived at, and an adjournment was taken till tomorrow afternoon, at which time it is stated to be the intention to take final action on the matter.

der portion of the joints was probably not properly cemented.

The pipe is vitrified and is eighteen inches in internal diameter. Almost without exception where it has been taken up it has been found that while the upper portions of the joints appear to be well comented, the lower portions have been cemented but little, if any. The cement that was used appears to be of good quality. It does not break readily.

The relaying is being done in a manner which seems to insure the pipe against any further leakage.

There are running through the park about fifteen hundred feet of this sewer and the taking up and relaying of only 400 feet has here.

There are running through the park about fifteen hundred feet of this sewer and the taking up and relaying of only 400 feet has been authorized by the Council. It has been suggested that the remainder of it may be stopped from leaking by having a small-sized man erawithrough and fill the leaks with cement. It is said, however, that the only satisfactory way of putting the sewer in proper condition is to take it up and relay it.

The cost of relaying all of the sewer running through the park is roughly estimated to be between $1500 and $2000. It is thought that so large an expenditure brought about by reason of defective work may result in greater care being exercised

"That the public interest and convenience do not require the same, and that the performance of said work at this time will be a hardship upon the owners of property along said street.

"That Main street is the only thoroughfare through the city from north to south and upon which the hauling from the rail-road depots and country south of the city is mainly done, and said improvement should not be caused to be done by the property-owners along said line south of Main street. That the material ordered can only be furnished by one firm, and will be a fraud on the owners of property along said street."

HULL, ALIAS HOYT, SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN FOR A YEAR. In Department One yesterday morning A. Hull, alias C. G. Hoyt, appeared before Judge Smith and withdrew his ples of not guilty to the charge of forger pending against him, substituting therefor that of guilty.

pending against him, substituting therefor that of guilty.

The court, after hearing what the defendant had to say for himself, and administering a paternal lecture, sentenced him to San Quentin penitentiary for tight term of one year only.

Young Hull, who is a bright and pleasant-faced young man, about 21 years of age, owes his present unfortunate situation simply to a lack of moral courage. Born and raised on a Maryland farm, where his parents still reside, the lad yearned for the excitement of city life, and left home in search of it while still too young to appreciate its dangers. He finally drifted out to Nebraska, whence he came to this city, with about $1500 of his savings. With grander ideas than his capital was able to maintain, he engaged rooms at the Westminster, made the acquaintance of a fast set, and "went the pace" for a brief period. He was brought up with a sharp turn on the morning of January 25 last, when he found himself penniless and in debt in a strange town. Lacking the moral courage to face his creditors, he forged the signature of Hanson & Co. to a sight draft for $150, drawn on the Citizens' Bank of Ontario, which he presented to Milo M. Potter, in payment of his hotel bill, and prepared to decamp, but was arrested and detained.

THREATENED A CANVASSER. In the Township Court yesterday Fred C. Dieffendorf, the agent of the Stimson building, appeared before Justice Young for examination upon the charge of having threatened to forcibly eject and inflict personal injury upon S. A. Widney, a canvasser for a dictionary, and was required to furnish $500 bonds to insure his keeping the neare for six months.

a canvasser for a dictionary, and was required to furnish $500 bonds to insure his keeping the peace for six months.

It appeared from the testimony that on Tuesday, April 16, Widney was making a canvass of the offices in the Stinson Block, when Dieffendorf accosted him on the fifth floor and ordered him to leave the building, threatening to throw him out if he refused to go. Widney raised the point that he had a legal right to transact business there, and returned on the following day with J. M. Copeland, who advised him that he was correct. The only question raised was as to the right of Widney to canvass in the building, the defendant's counsel contending that he had absolute control of the halls, and the prosecuting attorney holding that he had not.

The court evidently concluded that the latter view was correct, for he found that the threats had been made, and required the agent to abstain from disturbing the canvasser's peace for six months.

SHE WANTS REDRESS.

Suit was commenced in the Superior Court yesterday by Jennie F. Mauntel Court yesterday by Jennie F. Mauntell against the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, to recover $2600 damages for personal injuries received under somewhat singular circumstances. While on the trip from San Francisco to San Diego on February 21 last, the steamship Corona, upon which plaintiff was traveling, touched at Port Los Angeles, and proceeded to discharge a quantity of freight there. Among other things was a number of iron or steel rails, one of which, through the carelessness of the derrick men, slipped from the rope used in lifting it, fell through the deadlight of plaintiff's cabin, and seriously injured her.

THE SECOND CASE WITHDRAWN.

THE SECOND CASE WITHDRAWN. As the result of the knock-out blow administered by Judge Van Dyke to the Belministered by Judge Van Dyke to the Bel-mont Hall gang on Wednesday last, the accusation made against Dist.-Atty. Donnell by J. E. Young, an alleged attorney, was withdrawn yesterday. The reason given by Young for his action in withdrawing his application for a citation, was that J. R. McIntyre, the real accuser, had aban-doned the proceedings and departed be-yond the jurisdiction of the court.

TWO OF A KIND. When Fred W. Kind died at the peac When Fred W. Kind died at the peace-ful little fown of Asusa on January 18 last, few, if any, of his neighbors ever dreamt that he was a man with a history. Yet such would appear to be the case, for already three separate applications for letters of administration to his estate, which is variously estimated to be worth from $100 to $2000, have been filed, and two contests commenced by his alleged heirs.

two contests commenced by his alleged heirs.

The first petition was filed on January 19 by Mary M. Kind, 55 years of age, who claims to be his widow. She sets forth the fact that she and William Kind, a son of deceased, are the only heirs, and prays that letters be issued to Alvin Wells of Azusa.

Special letters of administration were issued to said Alvin Wells, on February 28, but meantime, on February 8, William Kind, the twenty-four-year-old son of the deceased, filed his petition and a contest, in which he alleges that said Mary Kind is not the widow of his father.

Yesterday the matter was still further involved by the filing of another petition by Mirs. Louisa Kind of St. Louis, Mo., who admits 50 years of her age, and claims to be the widow of deceased. She also denies that Mary Kind is his widow, and asks that letters be issued to the Public Administrator.

As the contests have been set for hearing on May 24 next, the matter will probably be elucidated at that time, unless the fival widows settle the matter satisfactorily meanwhile.

THE JURY IN THE ALLEN CA The prolonged trial of the damage suit instituted by Mrs. Ella Allen et al. against the Southern California Railway Company for the loss of her husband, a switchman who was accidentally killed in the San Bernardino yard, was concluded yesterday in the United States Circuit Court. The matter was sybmitted to the jury at 11:40 o'clock, and some four hours later that body practically found for the defendant, upon the ground that the plaintiff, being a resident of this State at the time of her husband's death was not an alien, and the action should, therefore, have been brought in the State court.

Henry, of the value of 20 cents; all of which is contrary to the form of the statute in such cases made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the people of the State of California."

In the light of such a grave crime having been committed, and a complaint having been duly issued, Justice Morrison issued a warrant for the arrest of the culprit, and the most able-bodied and fercicous deputy in the employ of Constable Harry Johnston was sent to serve it.

John Doe, the bold purloiner of soda water, was speedily brought into court, and proved to be Frank Terry, a diminutive youth of about 6 summers. He was accompanied by his little sister, Manie, aged 5, who pleaded guilty to being an accomplice in the crime, she having drank two bottles of the stolen soda. Property on Main Street is Begin ning to Come to the Front.

Subdivision of a Tract in San Fer nando Valley-City Extension Tree Planting Along the Streets-Building

The demand for property keeps up in an encouraging manner. Even during the lesta week several good sales were made. ON MAIN STREET.

On Saturday last the southeast of Main and Tenth streets, 100 feet by 173 feet, in the Hammel and Denker tract, was sold to Dr. Haywood of Philadelphia for $15,000, or $150 a foot. This is a price that is certain to give the purchaser a good profit within a year. The Times has frequently stated that at present prices Main street property, near and below the junction of Broadway, probably offers more inducements to judicious investors than any other street in the city. Unless the property-owners on Main street less the property-owners on Main streed are exceedingly short-sighted and blind to their own interests it is difficult to set how business can be kept from turning into Main street again, after the junction into Main street again, after the junctions of Spring and Broadway is passed. Meantime, the outlook for Main street is better than it has been for some time. The paving of the street, which will shortly be undertaken, together with the prospect of an electric road in place of mule cars, and the further prospect of the building of a big hotel at Tenth street, are already having a good effect upon values in that direction and there is every prospect of an upward movement before values in that direction and there is every prospect of an upward movement before many months have passed away. As to the hotel proposition, it is again stated that the plan is practically completed and that work will be commenced very shortly, However, there has been so much talk on this subject during the past five or six years that not many people will attach any confidence to these rumors until they see work being actually done on the site.

A SOUTHWESTERN SALE.

A SOUTHWESTERN SALE. as to a gentleman who was only in Los was to a gentleman who was only in Los Angeles on day—Henry Knippenberg of Montana, who purchased the residence of W. T. S. Hammond, of the First National Bank, on Estrella avenue, near Twentythird street. The lot is 50 feet front and the price paid was $4950.

After making this sale Mr. Hammond purchased a 50 foot lot of Mrs. Holt on the opposite side of the avenue for $1150, upon which he will build a residence.

FIGUEROA STREET. Another good sale of the past week vas the southwest corner of Figueroa and Sixteenth streets, 76 feet by 190 feet, which was sold by Julia Collins to Joseph Meyer, of the firm of Meyer & Zobelein. Mr. Meyer will build a fine residence on this location. The price paid was $6000 or about $80 a foot, which is certainly a reasonable one, considering that the street work is all paid for.

OUT WEST.

A good sale of residence property was that of 150 feet at the southeast corner of Tenth street and Westlake avenue, which was purchased by Percy W. Wilson of the firm of Wilson & Bulla, for $3250. Mr. Wilson will at once proceed to erect a fine residence on this site. SOUTH LOS ANGELES

The development of the southern section of the city, along Central avenue and Adams street, still progresses with a rapidity that is little less than remarkable. At the corner of Adams and Paloma streets, in the Adams-street tract, John Gray of Boston is erecting a fine thirteen-room residence, and several other first-class houses are being planned for the same tract.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY.

It is not alone in city property that much activity is shown. The prospect for good crops of almost every variety of produce has stimulated the demand for country property, and several transfers have taken place during the week. One of the most important sales of this character that has taken place for some time past is the transfer to an Eastern syndicate of 1400 acres of land on the Maclay ranch, a short distance north of the town of San Fernando. The tract includes a water right in a canyon where there are said to be fifty inches of water, and more than that can be developed. About 1000 acres of the land is arable. The plan of the purchasers is to plant the land with fruit trees, mostly olives, and then place it on the Eastern market for sale on easy terms, including care of the trees for four years. It is understood that the price will be about $350 per acre, including care of the trees for four years. It is understood that the price will be about $350 per acre, including care of the trees for four years. It is understood that the price will be about $350 per acre, including care of the trees for four years, as above stated.

The San Fernahdo Valley has been much neglected heretofore, but it is certain to come to the front before long. There are few more desirable sections of Southern Callforn and the produce of the trees, which look as thrifty as any that can be found in the county. This valley appears to be particularly adapted to the olive. There are a number of old trees, which were planted by the mission fathers, that still bear large crops.

DRY WASHES.

One reason why the San Fernando Val-ley has not been settled up more rapidly is the fact that the central and southern sections of the valley are cut up by the Pacolima wash, which is dry during the greater part of the year, but becomes transformed into a flood after a heavy rain. This wash, like others of the same kind in Southern California, shifts its course somewhat from time to time, and is constantly encroaching upon the adjacent land. Already thousands of acres of soil have been carried away, and the end is not yet. It is therefore not surprising that those who only know that section of the San Fernando Valley through which this wash extends should be rather averse to settling there.

The county ought to consider some means of keeping the Pacolima, San Gabriel and other river beds of the county within limits, as land is becoming too valuable to be washed away in this manner.

CITY EXTENSION.

CITY EXTENSION.

washed away in this manner.

CITY EXTENSION.

Those who are interested in the proposed extension of the city limits in a westerly direction have been pleased to learn during the week that a majority of the people of the University are not averse to coming in with the other sections. The matter is now being placed in definite shape, so that action may be taken upon it, and the probability is that before very long "Greater Los Angeles" will be an accomplished fact. With this extension on the west, and the early completion of the electric line to Pasadena on the sast, the time is not far distant when there will be a continuous city from the mountains to the ocean; not, perhaps, a city of fifty-foot lots, but of villa tracts, varying in size from half an acre to five acres in area.

A TOURIST HOTEL.

As already announced in The Times, Walter Raymond is here from the East. At this writing it is not known whether or not it will be decided to rebuild the Raymond Hotel, but whether this may be dore or not, it is high time that Los Angeles should take some steps toward erecting a tourist hotel in or near the city, in order to provide for the targe 12100.

crowds who now visit Los Angeles regularly every year, and the still, sarger crowds who will be coming in the near future. As already stated, the Tenth-street site is not an ideal one for a tourist hotel, although it would do very well for a commercial hotel, and to accommodate tourists until something more exitiateory is provided. What is needed is a hotel with grounds something after the style of the Raymond; a site of not less than five screet, and, if possible, larger. At is understood that there is a project on foot for the erection of a first-class hotel on one of the high elevations in the northern part of the city. The parties interested are not yet prepaged to give out any details for publication.

WOLLIACOTT TRACT.

WOLLIACOTT TRACT.

To judge from the number of persons who have gone out to look over the ground, the auction sale of lots in the Woollacott tract, on East First street, near the Terminal rallroad depot, will be targely attended. The streets have been curbed and put in good condition. This property is very near in and if, as the agents say will be the case, the lots are sold without reserve, there should be some bargains to be had.

A SATISFACTORY SHOWING.
The Investor publishes a statement showing the deeds, mortgages and releases in Los Angeles county for the first quarter of the present year, which is a very satisfactory one:

"January—Deeds, 1204, $1,569,439; mortgages, 471, $610,313; releases, 363, $563,837.
"February.—Deeds, 1193, $1,239,863; mortgages, 560, $925,857; releases, 333, $718,808.
"March.—Deeds, 1404, $1,579,124; mortgages, 560, $929,671; releases, 391, $1,119,883.
"Totals.—Deeds, 3901, $4,538,426; mortgages, 1527, $2,469,041; releases, 1087, $2,402,326."
Commenting on these figures the Ingages, 1077, $2,469,041; releases, 1087, $2,402,325."

Commenting on these figures the Investor says:

"The record of real estate transactions in Los Angeles county for the first quarter of the current year reveals a satisfactory growth, as may be seen by the figures given in the above table, where the number and amount of transfers is shown for each month, and also the number and amount of the incumbrances on real estate, together with figures showing the amount of such incumbrances that have in the same period been paid off and released.

amount of such incumbrances that have in the same period been paid off and released.

"Taking into consideration, first, that the transfers fall far short of the real amount involved, on account of the prevailing custom of making deeds for nominal sums, the mortgages are bound to give a truthful index of the character of the transactions. The best indication of the existence of a speculative boom is the increase in the amount of mortgages over the releases, and as the first quarter of this year has been marked by an unusual activity, it is pleasing to note that the showing is of a solid character, the total of mortgage releases being practically searly equal to the amount of new incumbrances, and this in face of the fact that the building both of business blocks and residences, has continued and is still being pushed with unremitting vigor."

TREE PLANTING. TREE PLANTING.

Now that the fiests has become an accomplished fact it has been suggested that Los Angeles should establish another anniversary in the shape of an arbor day, such as has been introduced with good results in many sections of the country. The planting of trees along the rides of the streets is not anything like so general as it should be in Los Angeles, considering the mildness of the climate and the vast number of attractive trees we have to choose from. The following article on varities of trees for planting along public roads was read at a recent meeting of the Eastside Club by S. P. Hosp of Riverside, who is said to be one of the best land-scape gardener in the State:

"The ornamentation of a street eravenue has of necessity to be symmetrical, a street lined with a great variety of trees will maturally be devoid of the whole length of the block. The next may have other kinds, but should be planted uniformly the entire block. It is not necessary that both sides of a street should be planted of the same varieties, if only their ultimate size will be somewhat near allike.

"One of the most common mistakes is the too close planting. We see only too many hedgelike lined streets. Where such is the case a number of trees should be cut down until they are at least theirly feet, or, according to variety, still further apart.

"Very effective it is to alternate large." Now that the flesta has become an ar or, according to variety, still further apart.

"Very effective it is to alternate large umbrageous with conical growing trees, as for instance the pepper tree with the Australian blackwood (Acacia Melanoxyion,) in which we have three contrasts, viz, form, color and foliage.

"A very important point of an avenue tree is its proper height. As a standard tree, it ought not to be branching below the height of six feet. For this reason plags and most other coniferous trees are not desirable; as soon as their lower branches are cut off their beauty is destroyed. Nevertheless, if they are used they should not be in company with palms, as extremes like the frigid and tropic never harmonize.

"As to varieties of suitable trees that

rs. live oak (Quercus Angnifolia et Qu. Chrysobe lepis)—are altogether neglected as to its, use as a shade tree. The common objection to their planting is their slow growth. Under the same care and conditions a live oak grows as fast as an orange tree, and the future generations would bless us for the cultivation of this stately and useful tree.

"Alternate a handsome variety of eucalyptus with the live oak, eighteen to twenty feet apart, and you will soon have shade. In ten to twelve years, when the caks are of good size, dispense with the eucalyptus.

The Woman Who Falls Into More Serious Difficulty.

Serious Difficulty.

Justice Morrison yesterday, on motion of Deputy District Attorney James, dismissed the charges of felony against W. F. Thomas and Mrs. Sarah Stebbins, alias Sadie Hubbard, alias Mrs. George Steward. The defendants seemed highly elated overthis unexepcted procedure and were about to walk out of court, but their joy was short-lived, for Detective Goodman immediately rearrested them on a warrant from the United States Court, charging them with a violation of the postal laws. They were taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke, who hold them in $1000 ball each. Thomas, being unable to secure bondsmen, was committed to the County Jail. The woman was more fortunate and was released on filing a satisfactory bond.

The specific charge against the woman is taking from the postoffice a letter addressed to Mrs. Sarah E. Stebbins, the wife of a Baltimore merchant, who was here on a visit, and appropriating a $200 draft, which was inclosed.

Thomas's part in the crime consisted in belping her to get the draft cashed at the German-American Savings Bank, by identifying her as Mrs. Sarah E. Stebbins, and afterward receiving part of the proceeds. Commissioner Van Dyke set their hearing for May 4.

A Neighborhood Quarrel.

A colony of Germans on Boyle Heights have invoked the City Justice Court to settle a feud among them. Yesterday Julius Dickhoff was found guilty of malicious mischief for cutting the tether of a horse belonging to Charles Anslyn and allowing the animal to run away. Dickhoff retailates by asking for a warrant to search the premises of Anslyn for a cowchain, which he alleges Anslyn stole from him. Frank Korber, who is a friend of Dickhoff and also mixed up in the neighborhood quarrel, has sworn to a complaint against Sam Anslyn, a boy who seems to be the chief disturber of the neighborhood, charging him with injuring and wounding two pigeons belonging to the affant, valued at 50 cents. Limbs on Wheels.

Medneeday afternoon Edward Cosby left his bicycle in front of a Spring-street store, while he went inside to transact some business. When he came out the wheel was gone. Wednesday evening two colored women came to the police station and reported that a stolen bicycle had been left at their house, on Stevenson avenue. Detective Hawley went after it, and it proved to be Cosby's. Yesterday morning Detectives Hawley and Auble arrested a young colored man named Charles Limbs at the Arcade Depot and accused him of the theft. He was booked for grand larceny.

Kicked By a Horse.

William Reed of No. 405 East Seventh street was kicked by a horse at Fourth and Pearl streets resterday and seriously injured. His left hand and one finger were broken, his lip and head were badly cut and he was injured internally. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital by the patrol wagon, where Dr. Ainsworth dressed his wounds. Reed could not state how he came to be hurt.

A EUCHRED CREW.

ON STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES AND DON'T GET IT.

A Low-down Trick Played By the Captain of the Steamer San Mateo on His Deck Hands.

The branch of the Seamen's Union is despondent because what some of the members term "a low-down Irish trick" has been played upon them.

When the steam collier San Mateo arrived at Port Loe Angeles last week, laden with coal, the deck hands—called, out of politeness, sailors, albeit they are mere longshoremen—refused duty and went out on a strike. The inevitable walking delegate, union agent, or whatever he chooses to call himself, was on hand, as representing the Seamen's Union at San Pedro and he voiced the woes of the down-trodden crew. It was represented to Capt. Fletcher of the San Mateo that the men on the sister ships, the San Bonito and the Mincola, were receiving 355 per month. When the ware only being paid $30 per month. The skipper denied that such was the case, but consented to investigate, and if $35 was the monthly wage, then he would pay the same. That appeared fair, and the men, on their side, said if it was true that only $30 was being paid they would return to work. Investigation revealed the fact that on all the steamers of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company the wages paid are the same—$30 a month, and of this fact the men were informed. Acting under the guidance of their good friend from San Pedro they said they "didn't care a continental d—," with a big, big D, and they wouldn't go to work anyway unless on the basis of $35 per month.

anyway unless on the basis of $35 per month. Guards were placed at Santa Monica Canyon, at San Pedro, and Los Angeles was also watched, so that Capt. Fletcher could not get a new crew together. They acted on the belief that the extra wage would be paid rather than detain the steamer, but, as so often has proved the case with strikers, they proved to be away out in their calculations. About midnight on Sunday the tug Collis steamed down to San Pedro, a crew of non-union men were rapidly got together, and the trip back to Port Los Angeles was made by 4 o'clock in the morning. When the strikers came down in the morning, confident that they would take their places again as the steamer was ready for sea, they saw, to their infinite disguet, that they were filling the role of so many smutty-faced Othellos, "their occupation gone."

Then they cuesed the walking delegate, the union, the steamer and its captain, and only let up when they had made themselves dry and their vocabulary gave out. Now the local branch at San Pedro is enlarged by the addition of a full crew from a steamer that has gone to sea.

Meador; Marshal, Gus Clark; Treasurer, J. A. R. Irvine; Recorder, Ed. Schwartz; Councilman First Ward, Leo Goldman; Councilman Third Ward, Malcolm McNair.

A damage suit has been brought by R. E. Daggs against Sheriff Orme and his bondsmen. The complaint alleges that the principal defendant unlawfully seized and removed 3500 head of sheep valued at $10,000 belonging to the plaintiff.

A petition is in circulation in the additions north of town asking for a free-delivery system.

Glendale will soon have a $6000 school. The plans and specifications are complete. This will soon be a dry campaign. The late Legislature made it a misdemeanor for a candidate to "treat." The candidates are therefore imbibing "solo."

A grand union Sunday-school picnic is planned for May 3. It will be held at Wickenberg. A special train has been chartered.

Artists Crocker and McNaughton have returned from a trip along the line of the new railroad, where they have desecrated every smooth rock with advertising paint. At one point, where the natural rock formation and color resembles an immense human skull the likeness was intensified by the addition of staring orbs of bright pellow and grinning teeth of the same sickening hue, while around about as a halo was painted in great letters the words "Wear Goddberg's Pants."

Leadville and Denver gentlemen of means have written that they will arrive in Phoenix within a few weeks to investigate the adaptability of the valley for the outlivation of citrus fruits and of a number of special products, coffee being something of a fad with several of the expected visitors.

Auditor Leitch has drawn warrants for Auditor Leitch has drawn warrants of the passage of the appropriation bill by the late Legisfature will not interfere, it is claimed, with the payment of salaries where the amount is stipulated by law. C. W. Robinson yesterday received a telegram from Cheago and Bloomington, Ill., parties, whom he has gotten interested in building a brewery and cold storage plant here, stading that they had left Chicago and would arrive in Phoenix the latter part of the week. Mr. Robinson leaves for Prescott tonight, where he will meet the party.

A NEW SONG.

The Tucson Citizen has the following: Between the third and fourth acts of Through the Lines,' at the operahouse or Through the Lines, at the operahouse on Saturday evening last, Hon. Tom Davis sang with much success the latest song. The Brownles, Arizona has the proud distinction of claiming this song as its own, for the words, which are very appropriate, are by G. W. Hoadley, the popular cashier of the Arizona National Bank at Phoenix, while the music, which is very pretty and catchy, and even better than the words, is by Miss Lizbeth Y. Allen, a young lady who is now located at Phoenix, where she is engaged as a professor of music. Judging by the manner in which the song was received on Saturday night, as the applause was loud and continued, it is likely to exceed the fame and success of 'Sweet Marie' or 'After the Ball.'"

A FRUIT PACKING HOUSE. A FRUIT PACKING HOUSE.

The proposed California rate on fruit shipments from this valley, if given as promised, will result in a fruit packing house. The movement originated with the Arizona Improvement Company and Messrs. Hurst and Harry Adams, manager of the great Bartlett ranch, and other extensive fruit growers of the valley. Fruit packing has proved profitable to California and there certainly will be greater profit in the enterprise here, since the price of land is so much less than in California. The only disadvantage Salt River valley packers would have to overcome would be the established reputation of California packers. from this valley, if

TUCSON.

TUCSON, April 24.—(Special Corres-condence.) Tucson is recovering from the smallpox scare. Vaccination has done to a considerable extent and the city Board of Health has given warning to clean up all premises of a doubtful sanitary condition. No cases so far as can be learned have occurred here are liable to.

In ten days a tour of inspection will be made by the Board of Health of all buildings and premises in the city, and the owners of all premises not then in good sanitary condition will be given the panalty of the law.

The delinquent property owners who have not complied with the new sidewalk ordinance will be compelled to complete their sidewalks within thirty days or have it done for them by the city, their property to be held for the improvements.

Judging from numerous letters received here from the Northwest, considerable immigration may be expected hereabouts from up north. A warmer climate seems to be the special desideratum. The inquiries are mostly from stockmen and farmers. Wages, products, climate, schools and churches are all inquired into. One party, from Washington, will have an outfit comprising fifteen to twenty teams. From the Dakotas also will come immigrants with stock and farming outfits.

The boys of the Indian School will soon be at harvesting 170 acres of grain in the valley. Superintendent Billmar is making the curriculum more and more in the direction of industrial training. The work the boys of the school room and a half day at the school are learning is such as they can take back with them to the reservation and utilize in the making of livelihoods. The usual course is a half day in the school room and a half day at ounside work. The question of what shall be done with the graduates of the Indian chools is now being considerably discussed throughout the Territory. From such Presbyterian pulpit a sermon has been preached setting forth the needs of the young Indians, laying the question before the public for suggestions. What is particularly desired is a remedy for keeping the educated Indians, from going back to the level of their parents. The work of the schools has been satisfactory. It is probable that many Tucsonites, for a change in programme in summer vacation, will go to Northern Afigona this year.

"Cinco de Mayo" (the 5th of May) will be observed by the Mexican population. The Philharmonic band will give a concert at the City Park from 3 o'clock till dark.

rert at the City Park from 3 o'clock till dark.

Twenty Papago Indians and twenty Mexicans ran a foot-race of 250 yards on the afternoon of the 22d, out by the San Xavier mission. Forty dollars had been made up as the prize. The Indians proved to be the better runners, but an error on their part made the result a tle.

Once again there is talk that the old smelter below town will start up. New articles of incorporation have been filed as "The Tucson Mining and Smelting Company," with theadquarters in London, England, and a capital stock of £20,000, in 20,000 shares, with Richard Hamilton as agent for the company. The shareholders already lease or own mines at Silver Bell and Canyada del Oro; also the emelter located below town. The smelter will be put in operation for a test run shortly.

The "Chinese hog case" is back in the District Court again. A year or so ago a vichous hog owned by Don Yan attacked and killed another Chinaman. The relatives of the dead Chinaman brought suit against the owner of the murderous hog for damages. It was decided in the District Court, was appealed to the Supreme Court, and by it remanded for a new hearing. The jury before whom the rehearing was tried disagreed. The Chinese interpreter, when accosted as to what he thought of the case, grincingly said: "Oh, no good, no good. Hog eat Chinaman."

NOGALES, April 24. — (Special Corre-condence.) The smallpox here is thoroughly under control. But two cases have occurred on the American side, and four over the line. There have been two deaths. Every precaution has been taken by the authorities on both sides of the line. Each authorities on both sides of the line. Each case has been isolated, and the Board of Health has made a tour and put the twin towns in good sanitary condition. Dr. George Goodfellow of Tucson, Territorial Health Officer, whife here on the 22d, made every precaution for future cases. No person who has been in contact with the infection will be permitted to leave Nogales. The smallpox is supposed by some to have come from Minas Prietas, a big mining camp 200 miles into Mexico. There, however, it is usually harmless, the worst effect being the ugly marks remaining. The children are exposed to it as fearlessly as they would be in this country to measles. Of late, however, owing to lack of rain, the sanitary condition of the camp has been something fearful, and water, even for household purposes, is almost a luxury. The smallpox is always there, but may have gotten a better grip and spread more from the unavoidable sanitary conditions.

The Regimental Band and Co. D of Tucson are expected here the 5th of May to have a friendly bout in shooting and music. The militia organization here is the largest in the Territory, the company having over eighty members. This is due to some extent from other than patriotic motives. The trip to Tucson on jury duty is very distasteful to the average Nogales man, and militia membership exempts from jury service. It is said that with case has been isolated, and the Board is very distasteful to the average Nogales man, and militia membership exempts from jury service. It is said that with two exceptions every available juror of Nogales, Arix, belongs to either the militia or fire company. There is also a possibility that as the 5th of May is the anniversary of the taking of Puebla from the French by Gen. Diaz in 1866, the event will be celebrated becomingly by the Mexican garrison here, and they might join in an international contest with the boys from Arizona.

Prof. E. L. Storment, principal of the Normal School here, has resigned, and will take a course in scientific studies at the University of Arizona, with a view of fitting himself for his chosen work of teaching the sciences.

It is probable that C. T. Hayden, the pioneer merchant of Tempe, who made an assignment to J. C. Ford of San Francisco, will shortly be able to handle his own afairs again. Although no statement has been made out, it is asserted on good authority that his liabilities are about $22,000 and the assets about $50,000, and about $11,000 secured liabilities. The assignee has given it out that Mr. Hayden's creditors will be paid dollar for dollar.

A meeting of the Normally accept the new building and make arrangements for the letting of contracts for the additional stories, and to consider the resignation of Prof. Storment. Judge Woodward is also present in the interests of his clients, the original contractors for the new building. Lee Dunn will leave in a few days for Denver, where he will spend the season handling fruits from the valley of the Salt. Large shipments of hay have been made here lately for California. The new crop is about ready. The season for fruit-shipping is drawing near, and a big business is predicted from Tempe, in this line.

PRESCOTT.

PRESCOTT April 24.—(Special Corre-pondence.) Prof. James McNaughton, who nas even principal of the Prescott schools for the past year, has gone to Phoenix. The Santa Fe, Phoenix and Prescott road have contracts ahead for 800 cars of cattle, and nearly every sidetrack between Prescott and Ash Fork is filled with empty stock cars. This week twenty-five carlyads of sheep were shipped from Del Rio and 900 head of cattle from Kirkland Valley. The cattle were purchased of Parker & Bashford by Joseph Monihan of Phoenix, and will be fattened on the alfalfa pastures of the Salt River Valley.

immigration bill on a work advertising the mines of Yavapai county. The new Commissioner of Immigration, Orick Jackson, is now engaged on the initial publication, dealing exhaustively and impartially with the subject. Every mine that is blessed with prosperity will be considered no more favorably than that which has a "good showing" back of it. The desire is to make known to the anxious inquirers on the "outside" the adaptability of this section to mineral pursuits, and the inducements open in this "half-prospected" clime. A feature of the enterprise will be the elegance of the illustrations, which feature will be the more appreciated when seen in centers outside of Arizons, where Prescott is still known as but a frontier settlement. Following the mining edition, a commercial issue will be given, illustrating also various points throughout the county.

A NOVEL PUMPING PLANT.

A San Diego man, W. G. Riffenberg, contemplates getting water to work the gravel of Temple Bar on the Colorado River with a novel pump. The intention is to utilize the rapid current of the Colorado there. He has had built two large boats on the catamaran order, which he will anchor in mid-stream by heavy steel cables, stretched up and down the river. These ropes will be fixed so that the boats will remain stationary in the stream. Two wheels, twenty feet in diameter, and with a twenty-foot breast each, will be placed between these catsmarans and attached to them, so that the current will revolve them. These wheels are expected to develop 140 horse-power. Located, on the catsmarans will be two immetis pumps, which will be operated by the wheels and will force the water to the banks, where it can be used for any purpose desired. The ropes will be so adjusted that they will permit of a twenty-foot rise in the river without any inconvenience to the boats or wheels, and appliances are also provided for protecting the boats and wheels from drift, and, in case of extraordinarily high water, for zwinging them in to the shore. The boats are already built and the two pumps arrived at Kingman last week, and will be taken to the river and placed in position as soon as possible. The entire plant, when completed, will cost only about $15,000, and, if successful, this amount will soon be realized from washing gold out of the gravel on Temple Bar, as it gives a value of over $1$ per cubic yard from prospecting. Irrigating may also be done with the plant. Should the experiment be a success, it will be the predecessor of many more.

WINSLOW, April 24.—(Special Correspondence.) Settlement has been made between the boards of Apache and Navajo counties of the amount of indebtednes and quantity of property to be divided be tween the now severed sections. All was harmony at the meeting, and the results may be compressed as follows: The assessment roll of Apache county for 1894 was $1,914,725, with an indebtedness on March 31, 1895, of $143,395.22. The total value of public buildings and bridges in the county was estimated at $19,475, nearly $14,000 of which is situated within the abridged county of Apache. The debt was apportioned between the two counties on tween the now severed sections. All was abridged county of Apache. The debt was apportioned between the two counties on a basis of 47.1 per cent. for Apache and 52.9 per cent. for Navajo. This starts Apache county out with a debt of $58.366, isewing to Navajo an initiaal indebtedness of $65,563. From the county funds in the hands of the Treasurer in St. Johns, Navajo county receives $8575, minus certain sheriff's fees for the conveyance of Navajo prisoners to the penitentiary. Navajo county has made arrangements to leave her prisoners in the Apache County Jail till the next term of court.

NEW STOCKYARDS. The new stockyards at the railroad will soon be ready for use. There will be two chutes for foading, and all contwo chutes for toading, and all conveniences for watering and feeding. It is proposed to make Winslow the best shipping pint on the line of the Atlantic and Pacific. The first shipment will be of 1000 head purchased in the Tonto Basin of Houston Bros., by L. F. Basely. They will be shipped east.

THE NEW SHOPS. Winshow proposes, if possible, to have the railroad shops recently burned here rebuilt here, although other points are making good offers for the same. Re-cantly there was a meeting of the citizens of Winslow to ascertain what induce-ments, if any, our people were willing to ments, if any, our people were willing to offer the railroad to rebuild the round-house and machine shops at this place. After considerable discussion it was determined to appoint a committee of six to wait on Mr. Wells, the general superintendent, and ascertain what would be satisfactory to the company. Messrs. E. A. Sawyer, C. L. Flunn, J. H. Breed, Doc Demarest, W. A. Parr and George Wolff were named as such committee.

It is also thought feasible to generate sufficient power from this spring to operate an electric railway to the Grand Canyon. Mr. Fleming has already received offers of outside capital in case he should place himself at the head of the enterprise outlined. Mr. Fleming will return to Flagistaff in about three weeks and visit the spring and thoroughly investigate the possibilities and cost of the enterprise. The spring referred to carries a large volume of water; according to Engineer Lamport, twenty-four inches is the minimum. Several parties have looked into this matter besides the railway company, and the general opinion is that the water can be piped to Flagstaff at a cost of less than $100,000.

Will Hear Tidings.

Frederick Stock yesterday received a cablegram from A. G. Withycomb in London, saying, when translated from its two words of cipher into readable English: "Nothing definite settled yet. My prospects are very favorable." This will be intelligible and interesting to the aumerous creditors of the irrigation company of which Mr. Stock is manager, and which is "in the hole" for something like $32,000. Mr. Withycomb was recently in this section, having come, it was stated, to investigate the affairs of the enterprise in behalf of the English capitalists who were to put money into the scheme when, it had progressed to a certain point that gave promise of its successful conclusion.

The plans of the company provide for an irrigation canal up in Inyo county, to be twenty-one miles long before it is expected to yield any return on the investment, and of this about seven miles has been completed at a cost of all the money that has been advanced. Contractors, sub-contractors and others who need money for proceeding in the enterprise, are anxiously awaiting a message from London saying that the Englishmen are ready to put up for the indebtedness. If this is done there is capital here ready to push the work through to completion.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM

of an Angeleno.

(Peoria (Ill.) Herald:) A gentleman recently returning from California says that he was sure everybody was satisfied with things as they were here before Mayor Miles issued his famous order. He said the Mayor ought to have been like the Los Angeles man. This man went to a revival every night for a long time. Every evening at the close of the service the evangelist would ask all those who desired to go to heaven to stand up. This man did not arise. Then the preacher asked all those who wanted to go to hell to rise. The man still sat still. Two or three evenings this performance was kept up, and finally the preacher went to the citizen and said: "My brother, you seem to be in an unsettled frame of mind. You must be on the anxious seat. You do not seem to want to go to heaven, nor do you appear to desire to spend eternity in hell. What are you going to do?" A smile o'erspread the features of the man as he replied laconically: "What's the matter with Los Angeles?"

A MEETING HELD AT STATION I

Reported That All the Outside Dis tricts Will Come Into the City-The Opposition is Becoming Less All the Time.

At Station D was held last evening an adjourned meeting of the Southwest Im-provement Association to hear the second and final report of the annexation com-mittees upon new boundaries, the present state of the enterprise for the "Gree attended and the report, which was read by Col. J. A. Eastman, was listened to with every evidence of interest and ap-attended and the report, which was read by Col. J. A. Eastman, was listened to with every evidence of interest and approval.

"In the former report of the committees," said Col. Eastman, "the legal fact was made clearly to appear that with Los Angeles city, in this busines, the initiative rests. A two-fold responsibility is upon the city: Its citizens that take the initial steps, must be satisfied in their own minds that it is desirable for public and corporate reasons to extend the city's limits, and they must have substantial grounds upon which to base the belief that a majority of the electors in the districts proposed to be annexed will vote affirmatively upon the proposition. On both of these points the committees are well advised. All but two of the seventeen members of whom the committees are composed, are residents, and have long been residents of one or another portion of the districts seeking admission. These fifteen committeemen have diligently sought to ascertain the sentiment as regards this question of the people among whom they live. Of course there is some deversity of opinion, but evidently the majority opinion is that to be admitted into the city at the present time would be a vast good to all interested. The two committeemen who reside in the city are informed and believe that the majority opinion of the electors of the city is overwhelmingly favorable to extending the limits. Therefore the committees have decided definitely and finally to petition the Common Council of Los Angeles in a manner conformable with the law and to the notorious facts of the case.

"The original intention of limiting the general plan to include the Harper tract, Rosedale and Pico Heights, has been abandoned. This amended proposition is a much larger one. Now is included Vernon and the University district also.

"No protest has come up from Vernon, but, instead, requests from many others besides the Vernon committee, to include that district. If there is an opposition there, it certainly is unaggressive and ready to facts, those doubts ceased to be troublesome.

'The committee has thus far done its work, and at this point must pause and take counsel together as to what other steps shall be taken to get the requisite one-fifth of the electors of Los Angeles to sign the petition, and then to lay it formaily before the Common Council.'

The report was signed for the Southwest Improvement Association, by F. A. Eastman, C. B. Dickson, M. F. Price, W. R.
Hagan, G. F. Poulk.

At the conclusion of the reading the committee was, by a vote, continued in service and instructed to take such other steps as may be necessary to bring the question of annexation before the City Council and to a vote of the people.

PASADENA.

BOARD OF TRADE AND CITIZENS

They Discuss the Question of Re-building the Raymond Hotel— Several Propositions Consid-ered—May Issue Bonds.

PASADENA, April 25.— (Special Corre-pondence.) The meeting of members of the Pasadena Board of Trade and citizens, salled for at the Cariton Hotel, was argely attended this afternoon, and was presided over by Mr. Stanton of Grace hel, who stated the purpose of the assem-blage and read the resolutions drafted by the Board of Trade April 16, expressing sympathy with Mr. Raymond in the burn-ing of the hotel. A copy of the resolutions were handed to Mr. Raymond, who arose amid a burst of applause to make reply. He said that he had come out to attend to the insurance matter, and, having been here but twenty-four hours, did not know definitely what to promise. He stated that he had struggled almost single handed with the problem of making the Raymond a great institution, and at the time when he saw his ideas realized, and found everything completed to his satisfaction, and hoped to enjoy the fruit of his labor, it was swept away from him and in forty-five minutes the work of nearly a dozen years vanished. He said he felt sure that if a new Raymond should arise upon the site of the old, its patronage next winter would be undiminished, and yet the insurance being but $200,000, out of which must come the money still due on a mortgage held by his brothers, he did not feel like tackling the rebuilding alone. The excursions which he had conducted for several years will still be brought to California, and as the Pasadena people will benefit fargely by these, he said it was only just that they should aid in the enterprise of rebuilding. He said further in substance that he did not wish to be hampered by a stock company, for he still owns the site, the stables and all the adjuncts of the hotel, the central building alone being lacking, but he suggested if the citizens were in earnest in their tender of their services, they might perhaps think favorably of a plan which had suggested itself to him. This was that the property should doe deeded in trust to some individual or institution, or trust company, and bonds issued to cover the expense of the rebuilding. In this way those who aided would be sure of their principal and interest, for the property would always be worth what it cost to rebuild. He suggested further that these bonds should fun twenty years, and draw 4 per cent. Interest, for the propertion was then taken up and argued, Messrs. Lukens, Wood, Brown, Daggett, P. M. Green, Col. Green, F. C. Boit and others taking part in the discussion, and being generally favorable to the proposition for consideration, suggesting that Mr. Raymond assume at least $100,000 of the tract, and all of it faid off in such a way that it was equally desirable for residence or a public institution. A committee was called for to see what could be done with the bonds here, and Mr. Stantop will appoint the same Friday, seven gentlemen to constitute its working force. After the meeting adjourned Mr. Raymond was surrounded by his old friends, who extended their heartlest sympathy to him.

BUILDING ORDINANCE NEEDED. The need of a building ordinance, requiring a permit for the construction of all than once been mentioned by the local pa-pers, and the time is not far distant when pers, and the time is not far distant when the imperative demands of a growing city will make it absolutely necessary that some steps shall be taken to provide for safety in the construction of buildings. At the corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Walnut street a three-story frame dwelling is in process of erection, the cutside studding being composed of 2x4s, and the work is being severely criticised by carpenters. The structure is to be used as a boarding-house, and it is alleged that from the very nature of the manner in which it is being erected it will be unsafe, yet the Superintendent of Streets has absolutely no authority to act in the case, his jurisdiction under the only existing building ordinance extending only within the limits of the territory assigned for the erection of slow-burning or fire-proof buildings.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Street Superintendent Buchanan would like the "kickers" on street sprinkling and street supervision generally to remember that he is a mortal man, and neither omniscent nor omnipresent. He says that nine sprinklers are doing Pasadena's seventy miles of streets, when it is said that nine sprinklers can not thoroughly attend to more than twenty miles of Calfornia streets. He personally inspects all the streets in turn, but it takes some time to drive seventy miles of streets. This afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, while Mr. and Mrs. Hardinge from the West Indies (who are stopping at the Carlton Hotel) were driving in Mr. Balard's closed carriage, the driver, J. H. Appreson, in turning around, turned too short and upset the carriage in front of the hotel. Mr. Hardinge climbed out on the opposite side of the carriage uninjured, but Mrs. Hardinge had to be assisted from the week in a fainting condition, but fortunately not bur teresping a good scare and shaking up. The carriage was considerably damaged.

The citizens of North Pasadena have about decided that if they are taken into a city at all, Pasadena is good enough for them, and they are decidedly opposed to becoming a part of Altadena. A meeting was held Monday afternoon at the Washington school for the discussion of the matter, and by popular vote it was decided that North Pasadena should not be included in the incorporation proposed for

The Southern Pacific Railway Company has begun its construction of a track which will pass through Pasadena, Ramona being the point of commencement. Some old track will be used, and it is said that in a very short time the line will be completed. Speaking of railway construction, the Pasadena and Los Angeles Electric Company will begin active work Friday, Fair Oaks avenue being the probable line to Altadena.

The supply of the navel variety of oranges is growing short, and the sales of the same are good. Orders for seedlings are increasing, with the prospect for an ample demand within a short time.

MRS. MILLER AGAIN.

MRS. MILLER AGAIN.

Readers of The Times will remember the remarkable incident of Mrs. Miller of Anaheim some months ago, teaving her husband and little thirteen-year-old daughter with a genuine, bona-due and asked for something to eat. It now seems that Mrs. Miller wants to return to her husband, not, seemingly, because she thinks more of him than she does of her tramp paramour, but because her latest accession has left her to look out for herself as best she can, while he pursues his pernicious practices in more verdant fields. Mr. Miller, the victimized husband, when his wife left him, took his little daughter, and, heart-broken, left the country, going back to his old home in Georgia, where his people reside. It was here that Mr. Miller heard from his wayward "frau," she writing to him from San Diego, tehling him of her desertion and asking him to allow her to come back to him, threatening at the time to kill herself if he refused. Mr. Miller has written a letter to a friend in this county telling him the story, and concluding the letter by saying that he had had experiences enough with his unfaithful wife, and that he would kill himself before he would live with her again. The last word received here of Mrs. Miller and her paramour was that they had gone to San Diego after their dismissal from the Justice's Court in Anaheim. LOVE'S STRONG HOLD.

A story comes floating across the sandwash from Abaheim that Miss Mary Welsel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Welsel, who departed a few days ago from the "mother colony" for an extended visit to their old home in Germany, has eloped with her young lover, and that they are now somewhere in the State enjoying a quiet honeymoon. The daughter was to accompany the family on their Eastern trip. but when the time arrived for their departure from Anaheim the young lady suddenly turned up missing. The parents did not delay their starting on account of the failure of the daughter to be on hand, but proceeded on their journey, thinking, no doubt, that if the girl wanted to go with her lover worse than she did to Germany, that she might go. As yet it has not been ascertained where the couple is, but it is expected that they will return to Anaheim as soon as they are satisfied the parents of the girl are sure enough launched out on the high seas headed for "Deutschland."

It is estimated that 75 per cent. of the seedling oranges throughout Southern California are still on the trees and the project of profitable movement of them is not very bright. Fortunately Orange county pect of profitable movement of them is not very bright. Fortunately Orange county is not dependent upon the seedlings or other orange varieties. So many different crops are raised profitably that when one chances to be a failure the other crops usually bring exceptionally good prices. This promises to be one of the most prosperous years in the history of this county. Although work on the new co-operative beet-sugar factory, near Anahelm, has not yet begun, there are over four thousand acres of beets planted in the county and the harvest promises to be a rich one. It is expected that the Chino factory will handle the Orange county crop yet this year, but by the time another season's crop is harvested the factory in this county will be in operation.

STUBBORN FIGHT OVER THE AR

A Foreclosure Suit-Mining News From the Pinon District—Mar-riage Licenses Issued—Suit Against the A. and P.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 25.—(Special Correspondence.) The Board of Supervis-ors took up the case of the Arrowhead tollors took up the case of the Arrowale determined this morning, and the petitioners are making a desperate fight for lower rates of toil and for throwing open the lower three and one-half miles of the road free. This road is the old Mormon road, built in 1852, over the mountains up through Waterman Canyon, on a slight grade, and then up over the mountain on a steeper grade. In 1892 the Arrowhead Reservoir grade. In 1892 the Arrowhead Reservoir Company, wishing to secure a better road for transporting the materials used by them up the mountain, built this road and fixed rates of toil that they wished the Supervisors to adopt, or, if not, they preferred to close the road to the public and keep it as a private road. Part of the road followed the old-traveled road, which at times had been abandoned and then opened up again, to be again abandoned. The people living up the canyon were given permission to use the lower portion of the road free, but they not only did so, but they abused the privilege by letting outsiders go up the road on their personal rights. This become so common that a determined row was inaugurated between the settlers and the company, and the former even went so far as to burn down the tollhouse, and in every way possible have made themselves obnoxious to the company. In the present attempt to fix toil rates for the coming year, this fight took form again, and a petition was handed in to move the toiligate up to the beginning of the steep incline of the road, and to reduce the rates of toil about one-half. For the company, their attorney, Judge Gregg, appeared, and Messrs. L. F. Cygers and C. W. Allen for the petitioners. Every point is stubbornly contested, and the fight promises to be a long and determined one. The first witness introduced was Ed Daley, Sr., who assisted in building the road over the mountain in 1852, and gave a very interesting account of the country in that particular respect for the past forty years or more. The proceedings of the day closed with ex-Supervisor Cram in the witness-chair, who was a member of the board at the time the franchise was granted, and the present rates of toil were fixed. Adjournment was taken to 9:30 a.m. on Friday.

A FIRST-STREET RESIDENT.

A Schoolmaster Abroad With a Club. LOS ANGELES, April 21.— (To the Editor of The Times:) One of the city papers—the Herald—thas had the misfortune to be represented at the recent Teachers' Institute by a reporter, Edward Hutchinson—himself a teacher, and a defeated candidate for Superintendent—who has not the magnanimity to elevate himself to the seat of unselfish judgment. The writer of this is in a position to know writer of this is in a position to know that the censorious spirit of the Herald's reports was at variance with the expressed feeling of a majority of the teachers attending the institute. The reporter of that paper particularly criticised Superintendent Riley's policy in having a general session on the afternoon of the first flesta parade. With the comprehensive scope of the natural leader, the Superintendent recognized three important conditions: (1.) the natural leader, the Superintendent recognized three important conditions: (1,) that the teachers were drawing public money for attending the institute; (2,) that it had been ungenerously and untruthfully reported that the teachers were being paid for attending flesta; (3,) that the teachers would have the opportunity of witnessing the more imposing pagears of Wednesday evening and Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Superintendent's action was fully indorsed by the unanimous adoption, in general session before adjournment, of the report of the Committee on Resolutions, the second clause of which reads as follows:

"Resolved, that while many of the teach-the action of the Superince.

quiring the same."

There was an enrollment of 315, and on Tuesday afternoon there were only twenty-nine absences; so the adoption of this clause depended upon the feeling and judgment of those that were affected by the Superintendent's policy.

The same reporter criticises the holding the same reporter criticises the holding the same reporter criticises the same reporter criticises the holding the same reporter criticises t ment of those that were affected by the Superintendent's policy.

The same reporter criticises the holding of the institute during fleeta week. I am informed that only two buildings in the city will accommodate such a public body as the County Institute, giving separate rooms for the sections and an assembly room for general sessions: These are the High School and Normal School buildings. These were available only during fleeta week. I am also informed that many of the teachers had especially requested that the institute be held during fleeta week, as they wished to attend both and desired only one week's vacation.

The reporter of the Herald further declaims against using public money for the maintenance of teachers' institutes. If teachers are capable of unbiased judgment, the adoption by the institute of the third clause of the resolutions is significant: "We affirm it to be our belief that this institute, about to close, has been a source of profit and inspiration to the teachers of the county, and that we avail ourselves of this opportunity of expressing our confidence in the utility of teachers' institutes."

By a majority of the teachers the judgment of the reporter would not be indorsed in any one of the three particulars: (1,) as to the holding of the institute during fleeta week; (2,) as to session of the institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institute during fleets aparades, and (3,) as to the utility of teachers' institutes.

In a Spring-street window may be seen on exhibition a banner made for the America Lodge of Odd Fellows, recently instituted in this city. In the center is a painting, showing in the foreground an allegorical representation of America in the form of a graceful female figure with her gaze directed toward the sun of the Occident, while at her feet the symbolical bear of California is crouching surrounded by grapes, oranges and other fruits of the country. In the background appear the Tehachepi Mountains, with a stretch of water which represents a bay (San Pedro's tinner harbor.) with vessels riding at anchor. The typical miner and palm trees of California may also be seen. Above and below the picture appear: "1.0.0.F." and "Los Angeles, Cal.," lettered in scroll work. The lambrequin of scarlet silk bears the name "America Lodge," and is trimmed all around the edge with a solid dead gold figure of point applique. The remainder of the banner, which is white dead gold figure of point applique. The remainder of the banner, which is white silk, is trimmed with gold gimp lace and the whole fringed with deep gold tassel lace. The same is suspended from a black walnut crossbar with gilt metal ornaments and heavy gold rope cord, while large tassels of gold wire lace depend from either end.

So Much For Enterprise.

(Oakland Tribune:) A well-known citi-en of Oakland who had practically retired m business, some few years ago, on ac-nt of age and the large fortune he had countilated, now owns the largest navel commulated, now owns the largest navel orange ordhard in the State. About five rears ago he caused to be planted near Pomona 200 acres with navel orange rees. This area has since been enlarged. It was doubted at the time if the owner twas doubted at the time if the owner rould ever live to gather any of the roult. But this year, for many days, there as been an average of two carloads of avel oranges shipped from this orcharad or Eastern markets. A year later the product will probably be much greater. This car the top price has been reached for avel oranges while seedlings have been ather dull of sale at low figures. Here were both enterprise and luck. The trees natured rapidly, the crop was a good one rices were large, and the revenue is a minoely one. The retired capitalist inimated at the time he planted that great range orchard that he intended to defort the proceeds to public uses. May that indertaking always prosper. A MISSING MAN.

He Drew His Savings From the Bank Last Monday and Has Not Since Been Seen—Foul Play or Spree.

A freight-handler in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad, by the name of Thomas B. Wallace, dropped out of sight of wife and friends last Monday, and has not been seen since. There are circumstances that make it appear that Wallace met with foul play, but how or where is more than the police have been able to determine, although they have been diligently investigating his disappearance for the past three days.

We have a large collection of minerals, ores and fossils, from Colorado, Arizona, Wyoming. Utah and California. Agates, coppers, gold and silver ores, crystals, perfeatchions, etc. Our store has been so crowded with Indian and Mexican goods the past year that we had to bave up our minerals and store that we had to be upour minerals and fossils, from Colorado, Arizona, Wyoming. Utah and California. Agates, coppers, gold and silver ores, crystals, perfeatchions, etc. Our store has been so crowded with Indian and Mexican goods the past year that we had to be upour minerals and store them. We have a large collection of minerals, ores and fossils, from Colorado, Arizona, Wyoming.

the past three days.

Wallace was an industrious man, and took good care of his earnings. He lived in a rented house at No. 126 West Elmyra in a rented house at No. 126 West Elmyra street, but by economic management had saved enough money out of his wages to buy a home of his own. This he was about to do, and had already paid $100 to bind the bargain. He was to pay $100 more as soon as the abstract of title was ready.

bind the bargain. He was to pay $1000 more as soon as the abstract of title was ready.

His money was deposited in the Savings Bank of Southern California. Last Monday, as soon ts the bank was opened, he called and drew $50. At 11 o'clock he returned and drew $50 more. From the moment he left the bank with the money up to the present writing, he has not been heard from nor seen by any of his acquaintances. When he drew the money the understanding was that he was to make a payment on his house, but the party to whom he was to pay it never received the money. Mrs. Wallace became alarmed when herhusband did not come home Monday evening. When morning came and he had not yet returned she notified the police, who immediately instituted a search for some trace of the missing man, but all in vain. An old soldier friend from Santa Monica had called on Wallace last Sunday, and Mrs. Wallace thought it possible that her husband took a notion to return the visit Monday. So she hastened to Santa Monica, but he had not been there.

Wallace had no children, but his domestic life is said to have been most happy, and his friends say he was not the scrt of man to voluntarily desert his wife in such a heartless way. The poor woman is almost distracted over his absence.

The police have no clew. They cannot see what object the man could have had in running away, as he apparently was well contented and had no domestic or financial troubles.

It is alleged that Wallace used to go on contented and had no domestic or mancial troubles.

It is alleged that Wallace used to go on occasional sprees, but it is claimed he had not drank to excess since a year ago last January. Thinking he might have gone on a spree, the detectives made a thorough search of every drinking-place in the city, but without avail. None of the barkeepers or habitues of the saloons anywhere recollected seeing him.

The theory that he was decoyed to some out-of-the-way place by some one who knew of his having drawn $1000 from the bank, and there murdered and robbed, has been advanced, but if such is the case the crime has been very successfully concealed.

wallace is described as being 50 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighing 161 pounds. When he left home he wore a blue-black sack coat, black pants and Congress gaiters. He is of light complexion, brown hair, mixed with gray, and sandy mustache.
